Solons Tackle Big Money Bill

$28,178,945 Allotted For University As Peterson's Estimate Is Exceeded

A record-smashing state budget of $165,066,397 for the 1951-53 biennium was tossed before the legislature Thursday by the budget committee.

The total, approved late Thursday by the committee, is $6,078,145 more than the governor's recommendation of $158,988,252 and $5,434,745 more than the 1949 appropriation of $149,631,752.

State Tax Commissioner Philip Johnson estimated that a state property tax levy of 7.17 mills ($7.17 for each $1,000 of assessed valuation) would be needed.

This figure, he said, is based upon current property valuations and includes the 1.1 special institutional building fund mill levy.

It compares with the present levy of 5.76 mills.

Increase Disputed

This would be an increase of 1.41. However, budget committee chairman Arthur Carmody, Trenton, said he believes an increase of no more than three-quarters of a mill would be needed, because of increased property valuations.

A breakdown of the total figure shows that $54,802,898 will come from the general fund, which the state property tax helps support.

The federal government will chip in the next largest amount, $44,593,319, while $43,137,873 will be from the cash fund, $12,884,714 from special levies and $9,647,592 from reappropriated balances.

Many Increases

The committee boosted the figures in almost every department above the governor's recommendations.

The group proposed that the University of Nebraska get $2,500,000 more than the governor suggested, with $28,178,945 tabbed for the school.

Another big increase went to the state assistance department. The committee put the state's largest spending agency down for $42,478,620, or $2,576,920 more tnan the governor's figure of $39,901,700.

The committee voted to give the board of control $38,336,240, $267,820 more than the governor proposed.

Highway Dept. Hiked

The board has charge of the state's 17 institutions, including the state penitentiary, reformatories and mental hospitals.

The state highway department was listed for $38,336,240, compared to the governor's figure of $38,068,420.

The committee slashed the governor's recommendations in only three departments—state superintendent ($2,123,439 to $2,095,369 or $28,070), vocational education ($5,668,000 to $5,623,193 or $44,807) and game commission ($2,102,880 to $2,098,066 or $4,814).

Unicam Kills Fair Trade Cigaret Bill

Measure Indefinitely Postponed; 19-15 Vote

The legislature after a debate that occupied nearly all of the Thursday afternoon session by a vote of 19 to 15 killed the so-called fair trade cigaret price bill.

The bill, LB 287, would have provided that no retailer could sell for less than a six per cent markup over costs and a wholesaler would have to make a two per cent margin of profit. Until amended in committee the bill would have required profits of 8 and 3 per cent.

The bill was introduced by Sens. McKnight of Auburn, Vogel of Omaha and Hoyt of McCook. Sen. Hoyt later withdrew his name as an introducer.

Sen. McKnight in an hour of argument explained "unfair trade practices" and asserted the present state law is not easily enforceable on cigarets because they are an ideal vehicle as "loss-leaders."

Interestedly following the debate were 33 legislative chairmen from Dodge county extension clubs and 60 leaders of home economics in Clay county clubs.

'Mystery Bill'

Sen. Sam Klaver immediately moved that the bill be indefinitely postponed when Sen. McKnight finished. He termed the bill a "mystery bill," comparing it to the three shell game in which "suckers" are urged to guess the shell under which the pea is hidden.

He called attention to the "mysterious disappearance" of the bill, which he said did not appear on the general file until five weeks after it had been reported out of committee.

"The other mystery is why it was introduced," Klaver said.

Sen. Robert McNutt of Lincoln, after pointing out that the bill gives the dealer a six per cent profit above the cost of doing business, asserted, "I am sick and tired of taking care of the man selling cigarets. I want to take

Watershed Bill Killed By 6-3 Committee Vote

'Too Broad In Scope'--Further Study Recommended; Sen. Liebers Is Undecided On Attempt To Override

BY ARCH DONOVAN
(Star Staff Writer)

The watershed bill, LB 455, was indefinitely postponed Thursday by a 6 to 3 vote of the public works committee as "too broad in scope."

The committee statement said, "The amendments offered at the hearing had helped to a degree, but did not eliminate enough of the probable causes of trouble that could be created if the bill was passed in its present amended form."

The bill was introduced by Sen. Otto Liebers of Lincoln. He declined to say whether he would attempt to override the committee action on the floor of the legislature. Sen. Liebers said he would await reading the committee report and a conference "with others" before making up his mind.

The Lincoln Star in its news and editorial columns called attention to the broad powers contained in the bill to which the committee objected.

The committee report by Chairman Otto Prohs of Gering told of the "many days of study and thought" put in by the committee in reaching its decision.

Study Planned

"This bill requires many more days of study by competent lawyers that are rated the best in matters of this type from over the state to eliminate any dangers of the possible interference with irrigation, drainage and soil conservation laws," Prohs continued.

The committee voted to have a resolution prepared asking the legislative council to make a study of the needs of such legislation in its entirety and make a report to the 1953 legislature.

Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings suggested the possibility of using only parts of the first chapters of the bill, eliminating flood control provisions and everything except soil conservation by keeping water on the land. The measure, however, was killed by secret ballot before consideration was given the suggestion.

'Too Little Thought'

Under the secret voting rule of the committee, identity of senators' expressions must be respected. One senator explained that "too little sound thought" had been given to the bill before its drafting.

"It was picked up almost bodily from laws in other states with no consideration given Nebraska conditions," he said. "Proof that the bill was makeshift and not carefully studied was shown when before the hearing the bill was practically rewritten by amendments. Since then still more amendments have been suggested, indicating further weaknesses.

"There was no doubt in anyone's mind of the need of conservation, but a careful study should first be made of present laws to see if they are sufficient or whether they could be made to meet the state needs with a few amendments. Experts in the various fields should be consulted."

Chairman Prohs said that he would immediately have a resolution prepared to authorize a study by the legislative council with a report to be made at the next session. The committee was unanimous that such a study be made.

Meat Shortage Is Felt Here

A check of Lincoln grocers shows that the meat shortage reported in other parts of the country has also been felt here.

All grocers checked agreed that the ceiling placed on the wholesale price of meat is the cause of the shortage. The price of meat on the hoof is so high, they said, that the packers are not buying the meat.

One grocer reported that he receives only one-fourth of the meat he orders, including pork which was supposedly not as short as other meats. Another expressed relief because he could not get as much meat as he needed. "The more meat we get," he said, "the more money we lose."

Louis Kavan, secretary of the Federation of Food Retailers, in a talk before a meeting of the Retail Grocers association Thursday night said the packers are all losing money because the ceiling prices are not in line with the market prices on live animals.

As to an adjustment in the present ceiling prices, Kavan said that according to a wire he received from Washington the new price set-up is being detained by some unknown "undercover controversy."

Meanwhile, in Omaha, Wesley Hardenbergh, president of the American Meat institute, told the Omaha chamber of commerce Thursday night that "there are pretty good indications that the black market is already under way."

"Some of our members have advised us," Hardenbergh said in a prepared speech, "that New York wholesale prices on beef, lamb and veal are now being quoted officially by the U. S. department of agriculture at several cents per pound above the ceilings which those companies have in that market.

Gen. Van Fleet Says Reds Will Be Halted At The Han

Foe Advances, At Terrific Cost, To Within Few Miles of Korea Capital

TOKYO—(Friday)—(AP)—Red troops swarmed down to within 11 miles of rubbled Seoul today, hitting allied forces on the outskirts of Uijongbu.

But despite the assult on Uijongbu, defense outpost for Seoul, the United Nations field commander declared the reds would be stopped north of the Han river.

The statement came from Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet on a surprise visit to the rolling front.

His reference to north of the Han apparently mean the allies hoped to save Seoul from falling into red hands for the third time in just over 10 months of war.

United Nations forces still held Uijongbu and were putting up a strong fight.

NO LINE YET

The allied defense line north of the Han has not yet been established, Van Fleet said, and allied withdrawals continued.

The line yielded, by plan, under pressure from a Chinese army of nearly a half million men surging forward in the west without armor at a tremendous cost in killed and wounded.

The reds pressed southward on Uijongbu. Yesterday they took Munsan, 21 miles north and west of Seoul.

Gen. Van Fleet dropped in unannounced at a U. N. division command post early Friday.

GENERAL CONFIDENT

After being with the division commander he met war correspondents. One asked if he believed his Eighth army could stop the Chinese and hold north of the Han. He replied quickly: "I do."

"We are withdrawing in order," he said. "We are keeping units intact. We are taking a tremendous toll of the enemy while enduring minimum losses ourselves."

Heedless of heavy losses, the reds advanced in darkness over a battlefield littered with their dead.

On the central front, the United Nations forces held firm against lighter communist assaults.

An American B-26 light bomber used its landing lights to illuminate Chinese positions for strafing.

The bitter action in the west and the steady stand in central Korea took a mounting toll of communist lives. Unofficial military estimates placed at nearly 30,000 the reds killed since Sunday night—more than 5,000 from allied air strikes alone.

--MacArthur-- U.S. Policy Termed 'Vacuum'

Doug Makes Fighting Speech As Climax To Big Chicago Welcome

CHICAGO — (AP) — Gen. MacArthur told a cheering crowd in Soldier Field Thursday night he will continue to fight for "a positive and realistic policy" in the Far East.

The "Old Soldier," speaking from a spotlighted platform in the huge lake front amphitheater, raised the question:

"What is our policy for Korea?"

He said "our losses there in ratio to men committed already have reached staggering proportions."

The "tragedy" of this, he declared, is that since the Chinese reds joined in the fighting our policy has been in a "vacuum."

MacArthur, ousted from his Far Eastern posts by President Truman, on April 11, made a grim, fighting address at the climax of a civic reception for him in Soldier Field.

50,000 In Stadium

Andy Frain, chief of the crew of ushers at the big stadium, estimated the crowd at 50,000.

MacArthur termed the current situation "completely unrealistic."

"Although my public life now is closed," the general began, but he was interrupted by the audience.

Cries of "No, No," rolled across the field.

Mrs. MacArthur and their son Arthur shook their heads at this expression from the audience.

"It is closed," MacArthur insisted.

But, he added, he would exercise his responsibilities of citizenship.

"I shall continue," he said, "to advocate a positive and realistic policy for Korea."

Asks "Positive Policy"

He called for a "positive policy"—one unswerved by "political pressure from abroad."

MacArthur said he had endeavored to "keep the issue on a higher level than partisan politics."

He spoke out for a policy designed to bring the Korean fighting to an honorable end with a minimum loss of American lives.

He also pledged he would fight against communism as long as God gives him strength.

The general, hailed by crowds of between 3,500,000 and 4,500,000 during a 23-mile ride through Chicago during the afternoon, said the reception would encourage him in confronting the "issues that now face mankind."

Record Turnout

The general's triumphal 23-mile ride through Chicago Thursday afternoon was witnessed by a record Chicago turnout.

From the time MacArthur stepped from his plane at 12:20 p.m. until he entered his suite in the Stevens hotel at 3:10, he was the center of the biggest and noisiest demonstration in the history of Chicago.

Willoughby To Be Retired

TOKYO—(Friday)— (AP) — Maj. Gen. C. A. Willoughby, chief of intelligence on Gen. MacArthur's staff, said today he had asked for retirement and could return to the United States late in May to join the general.

Reports To Frisco.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Maj. Gen. Charles A. Willoughby, 59, who was assistant chief of staff under Gen. Douglas MacArthur, is to be relieved in May, the defense department reported Thursday.

Orders have been issued for Gen. Willoughby to report to Letterman army hospital in San Francisco, apparently for a routine physical examination.

The date of Gen. Willoughby's departure from Tokyo, where he has been serving as intelligence officer, is to be fixed by MacArthur's successor, Lt. Gen. Matthew Ridgway.

Quick Oil Nationalization In Iran Is Recommended

TEHRAN, Iran—(AP)—A special parliamentary oil commission voted Thursday night to ask parliament to set up a 12-man Iranian government board to take immediate control of the huge British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil company.

The sudden move to carry out nationalization of the only company working the vast oil riches in this country after 44 persons were injured in rioting over the issue in the northern city of Resht, capital of the province of Guilan on the Caspian sea.

Parliament is expected to meet Saturday or Sunday to act on the oil commission's proposal. Parliament voted unanimously last month in favor of the principle of oil nationalization and appointed the special commission to work out details.

The British government, which owns more than 50 per cent of the stock in the big company, has protested the nationalization move in parliament. In a series of formal notes, Britain declared government seizure of Anglo-Iranian would violate international law and would cancel the concessions provided for in a treaty between the two countries which runs until 1993.

The vast oil production furnishes the British navy with most of its petroleum.

Anglo-Iranian, beset by a month of critical strikes and violence in the southern oil fields, said Wednesday night most workers were returning to their jobs.

The southern disorders were said by company officials to be largely communist-inspired.

Cariotto Named Head Of Council On Veteran Affairs

Joe Cariotto was elected president of the Lancaster county Council on Veteran Affairs Thursday night at the group's annual meeting at the YWCA.

Other officers elected are:

Richard Joyce, vice-president.

Ed Becker, treasurer.

Don Newville, secretary.

A. C. Glandt, outgoing president, executive committee member.

Max Roper, executive committee member.

Retaining places on the executive committee were Dr. J. P. Colbert, Jack Stewart, Grey Jewett, Nathan Grossman and C. B. Dobbs.

The council passed a resolution expressing appreciation for help given the group by the Lancaster county commissioners, the county service committee, the American Legion auxiliary and the Community Chest.

Requests Increased.

The annual report of the Council on Veteran Affairs indicated that requests by veterans with respect to exisiting benefits and privileges under state and federal laws had increased during the past year, chiefly as a result of more compensation and pension claims and other legislation enacted for veteran benefits.

During the past year 6,549 inquiries were made regarding information on the GI bill of rights and other veterans legislation, the report indicated.

The social service department of the organization spent a total of $19,971.77 last year for food, clothing, hospital and medical care for Lincoln families, the report said. This was attributed to the high rate of unemployment during the early part of 1950 and the increasing cost of medical and hospital care.

The American Legion auxiliary, through the veterans' center, provided clothing and food to children of many veterans' families the report said. The Community Chest also contributed for assistance to non-resident veterans of World war I and II, who needed temporary assistance.

Engineering Open House Displays Today's, Tomorrow's Gadgets

BY DON GILLEN.
(Star Staff Writer)

Though it was a long walk, all of the hundreds of citizens and students that passed through the seven engineering buildings on the University of Nebraska campus Thursday agreed it was well worth the time—and tired feet.

A jaunt through the maze of roped off passages was an interesting education with never a dull moment.

"Today's Dream—Tomorrow's Reality" was the motto of the thirty-ninth annual Engineers' week at the university. Besides the open house, various displays were featured all week at several downtown business establishments.

As usual the noisiest gadget attracted the most people. A home-made jet engine drew a big crowd as it flamed, sputtered, blew and hissed. A take-off was never accomplished.

Ladies gathered around the synthetic jewel manufacturer at Avery laboratory. An extremely hot furnace melted powder and formed it into jewel-like boules, from which synthetic gems are cut and polished.

Tic-Tac-Toe.

For the intellectuals, the electrical engineers had a tic-tac-toe machine that played itself against the player. Thoughts of administering a sound whipping to the machine vanished after a courageous fellow was trapped three times in a row.

Free lemon drops were available at the lemon drop machine in the chemical engineering building. Though the machine was a "candy maker," it seemed every time someone wanted to see the lemon drops come out, a batch had just been finished and another would be ready shortly—in about 45 minutes or so.

Mechanical engineers demonstrated that eggs would stand up under as much as 150 pounds of pressure before cracking. People stood aghast as the machine registered nearly 60,000 pounds of pressure on a 12-square inch block of cement before it crumbled.

Civil engineers proved that quicksand is harder to drown in than is water. The use of a toy soldier that quickly sank in fresh water but floated in quicksand made believers out of many doubters.

Elmer the mechanical man and his mechanical dog, Sparky, greeted arrivals at Ferguson hall, the newly-constructed electrical engineering building. Sparky wolf-howled at the girls and yapped at mischievous little boys who tried to figure out what made him go. A spark gap at the top of Sparky's noggin kept inquisitive kiddies from really getting down to business on discovering his secrets.

Real flying saucers, and not hallucinations, zipped around Richards laboratory, propelled most was the architectural dis-

by liquid air, the amazing substance that engineers say has tremendous possibilities. Rockets zoomed past interested onlookers and soared around the room with their tubes full of liquid air.

Mac's Talk Will Affect U.S. Policy

. . . D'Ewart Predicts

NORTH PLATTE, Neb.—(AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur's address to congress last week "will have a profound effect on our policy in Asia," Rep. Wesley A. D'Ewart (R-Mont) predicted Thursday.

Rep. D'Ewart was principal speaker at a regional meeting of the Nebraska Stock Growers association and the Nebraska brand committee.

"The speech brings into the open, clearly and forcefully, so that all can judge the issue, the basic difference between the policy of the state department and the policy of this outstanding general with all his years of experience in the far east," he declared.

'Neverending Problems.'

Rep. D'Ewart said it was the difference "between men who have been wrong on almost every decision since they staged the Yalta conference, and the man who has almost always been right in his handling of political and military affairs in the far east."

Turning to the nation's fiscal policy, Rep. D'Ewart, a cattleman for 30 years and chairman of the executive board of the Montana Stock Growers association, said appropriations and taxes are neverending problems of every legislative body.

"When they reach the present-day proportions they become the immediate problem of every citizen," he said. "Nebraska's share of the $71,500,000,000 budget submitted by Mr. Truman is about $615,000,000, more than twice as much as the people of Nebraska paid in federal taxes last year."

Another story on the Nebraska Stock Growers meeting appears on page 6.

Complacency On A-Bomb Big Struggle, Nurses Told

The 40 nurses attending the training course on the "Nursing Aspects of Atomic Warfare" were warned Thursday that their biggest struggle will be against peoples complacency.

Dr. R. H. Whitham, chairman of the health services subcommittee of the state advisory defense committee, said the high cost of atom bombs meant no small cities such as Lincoln would be bombed.

However, he said the civilian defense organization was needed to come to the aid of larger cities that might be devestated by an atomic attack.

Dr. Whitham spoke at the second session of a three-day course sponsored by the state department of health, the state nurses' association, and the state office of civilian defense.

Hear Sanitation Engineer

In the morning Dr. G. W. Ferguson of Kansas City, Mo., senior sanitation engineer of the Kansas public health service, explained methods of dealing with radioactive materials. He said most food left in covered containers would be safe from contamination.

Mrs. Mary Beck, nurse representative on the state civil defense health services committee, said training programs and refresher courses are being set up in seven state districts to teach professional nurses, practical nurses, nurses aids and attendants the procedure in case of an atomic attack.

Three nurses conducted a symposium on these problems of nursing care: Mrs. Charlotte Nalley, "Burns and Trauma," Sister Ruth Kauffman, "Burn Dressings," Florence Keegan, "Radiation Sickness," and Clara Schlecht, "Emergency Baby Deliveries."

Two Boys Admit Theft Of Rifle

Two boys, eight and ten years old, admitted to police Thursday night the theft of a rifle from a Lincoln root beer stand Wednesday night.

The youths told the officers they had prowled the stand on previous occasions. After further questioning, the pair admitted rifling several mail boxes in the same neighborhood.

The boys were released to their parents, Detective Lieutenant Paul Beave said.

nificent—though it may remain "Tomorrow's Dream."

Probably the most clever exhibit was the civil engineering highway display showing construction methods and costs of a section of highway with a bridge. Model machinery, exactly the same as that used in real highway construction, was strategically placed to simulate real action. Also shown by models was how a road crew readies a road for tar and how the tar is applied.

An atomic bomb cut-away model pictured vividly how the Hiroshima weapon must have looked. Its general principle was the moving together at the right time of two chunks of plutonium. While apart the plutonium is not dangerous, but the two pieces shoved together result in the blast.

Many practical gadgets were on display. A spot welder was quickly and easily demonstrated by electrical engineers. The spot welder uses electric current and the metal of the two objects to form a lasting weld. Two nails were welded together quicker than you could bat your eyelid.

Huge steam and internal combustion engines, steam turbines, compressors and refrigeration machines rounded out part of the mechanical engineering display. Various types of forge and foundry work provided plenty of fireworks for the show.

A miniature smoke tunnel with various type surface resistances drew many fascinated onlookers.

All in all the open house is very educational. And who knows, maybe even the engineers learned something new.

care of the public for a change."

McNutt, among other objections, pointed out that under the terms of the bill the director can become a czar through power given him to control issuance of licenses. He also said that a dealer was empowered to enjoin a competitor.

Profit Provision

Sen. Beaver stressed that the profit provisions would let a dealer make $300 or $400 on every dollar invested.

Sen. William Hern, who introduced the cigaret tax bill last session, recalled that it was charged the tax would drive dealers out of business. He said the state was not collecting $3,000,000 and there were more dealers than ever.

Vote on the bill was:

Against: Duis, Hern, Kotouc, Larkin, Lusienski, McKnight, Marvel, Metzger, Moulton, Peterson, Shultz, Tvrdik, Vogel, Williams, Wilson.

Fine Arts Ensemble Gives Last, Best Performance

BY RAY SCHAUMBURG

Thursday night marked the final performance of the Fine Arts ensemble, presented by the "Friends of Chamber Music," a more or less anonymous group of music lovers who wish to further the performance of chamber music in general and, in particular, the lesser known works for chamber ensembles.

The small but appreciative audience that attended the Thursday night concert heard what was undoubtedly the best performance of the year. Save for the faulty intonation of the violins, which was so infrequent as to be negligible, there was nothing with which to find fault. The program was one of the most thoroughly satisfying musical experiences of the season.

A very early work of Beethoven opened the program. The Trio in C minor, Op. 1, No. 3, for violin, 'cello and piano, Gladys May, Rosemary Madison and Emanuel Wishnow played this youthful but definitely Beethovenesque work with warmth and understanding.

Max Gilbert, violist, joined the ensemble for the second work of the program, the String Quartet No. 3 by the little-known Italian composer Giovanni Paisiello, called rightly enough, the "Italian Mozart." The ensemble performed this richly expressive, lyrical quartet in a clear and perceptive style which, though occasionally was romantic, was never sentimental.

The chef d'ouvre of the evening concert, which alone was "worth the price of admission," was the Chausson double Concerto in D major for piano, violin and string quartet. The Opus 21 double concerto is one of Chausson's most notable achievements. It is a masterpiece of workmanship, style and form, besides being one of his most satisfying compositions.

The ensemble, joined by Eleanor Clark at second violin, Truman Morsman moving up to first, with Emanuel Wishnow playing the solo, could not have given a more adequate reading of this marvelous music than they did. Previous numbers on the program were good; solidly and dependably played, but the Chausson concerto was far and away better than its predecessors. For the double concerto, the ensemble "dispensed with measure bars" as Virgil Thomson so deftly puts it.

Gladys May and Emanuel Wishnow were outstanding, but the plaudits belong to the entire group. Seldom has such fine music been played as well as this splendid organization plays it.

Quick Action Of Omaha Rescue Squad Saves Baby From Death

OMAHA. (AP). A five-month-old baby swallowed a celluloid ball about an inch in diameter and might have died had it not been for speedy work of the South Omaha rescue squad.

The frightened father, home alone with the child, fainted after the squadmen arrived, just as he was about to tell them what had happened.

Squad Capt. Charles F. Walther looked into the child's mouth, saw a shiny object deep in the throat. Trained members of the squad removed the ball with forceps and a laryngoscope and revived the child, who had stopped breathing, with artificial respiration.

The infant is Thomas Nielsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Nielsen of South Omaha. The celluloid ball was part of a rattle.

Doctors at Children's Memorial hospital, where the child was taken, said too much praise could not be given the men of the rescue squad—Captain Walther, James Pattavina and Charles Casey.

The squad's laryngoscope was donated by the Woodmen of The World Life Insurance society. The Douglas County Medical association gave the squad permission to use it and the squad took a course in its use at the University of Nebraska hospital.

Mr. Nielsen, the father, called the fire operator at 9:23 p.m. The squad arrived about three minutes later. The baby was brought to the hospital about 10 p.m. and by then was breathing about 40 times a minute and had begun to cry. Doctors said his condition is not serious.

108 Candidates Complete Work In Scottish Rite

OMAHA—(AP)—A class of 108 candidates Thursday completed degree work to become 32nd degree Masons of the Scottish Rite of the southern jurisdiction of the U.S.A.

A banquet with Dr. Emery Luccock, pastor of the Dundee Presbyterian church of Omaha, as speaker, was the final item on the agenda for the spring reunion of Scottish Rite bodies which opened Monday.

Gale E. Davis of Omaha, vice president of the Mutual Benefit Health and Accident association, was elected president of the new class.

Fussed Fuse Has Policeman Fuming

Desk Serg. Walter Rowden of the Lincoln police almost did the same as the radio transmitter Thursday evening—blew a fuse.

For approximately forty-five minutes, Sergeant Rowden tried to keep cruiser cars in operation without the aid of the radio.

Rowden could receive messages from the cars, but the disgruntled officers could not understand why their queries to headquarters went unanswered.

Rowden breathed a mighty sigh of relief when a radio repairman finally diagnosed the trouble and replaced the faulty fuse.

Dr. Holt Dies at 78

He was a friend of President Woodrow Wilson and their views on ridding the world of war were similar.

Scattered Rains Forecast For State

Scattered showers and thunderstorms were predicted for Friday, canceling plans of many farmers for a full day's work in the fields.

After less than two consecutive days of fair weather, the rains which have been heavy enough to keep farmers in the eastern part of the state out of the fields, but not heavy enough to benefit the western wheatlands, were scheduled to return over most of the state.

Under partly cloudy skies Thursday temperatures rose to above 60 degrees over most of the state.

Some western points, missed by much of the spring moisture, had better luck late Thursday.

Rain at Sidney amounted to .16 of an inch and Scottsbluff received a quarter of an inch of precipitation.

High temperatures at Nebraska points Thursday included North Platte 55, Sidney 51, Scottsbluff 52, Chadron 55, Grand Island 56, Lincoln 58, Omaha 57, Valentine 59, Burwell 52 and Norfolk 57.

Hotel . Radio . Stolen

Police offense reports show that a $25 grey, table model radio belonging to the Milner hotel, 119 South Fifteenth, was stolen from one of its rooms during the last 24 hours.

The Basis for Definition

By J. Gordon Roberts

In a "classless" society constituting ideal democracy, the society as a whole, any segment thereof, or the individual member, must be judged according to the same formula.

The mathematical definition to follow shall be based upon invariants. Invariants are, of course, the foundation of much of mathematics.

As everyone knows, for example, two times pi times the radius equals the circumference of a circle, irrespective of the length of the radius or the unit of measurement used.

As Cassius J. Keyser states:

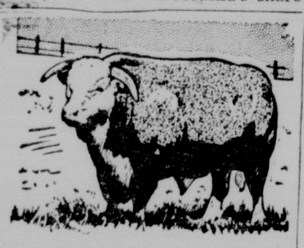

"A natural law—if, strictly speaking, there be such a thing outside the conception thereof—is fundamentally nothing more or less than a constant connection among inconstant phenomena: it is, in other words, an invariant relation among variant terms.

"Whatsoever things are invariant under all and only the transformations of some group constitute the peculiar subject-matter of some (actual or potential) branch of knowledge."

YOU CAN BE PROUD

—that one Nebraska county has more cattle than any other in America!

Cherry county, in the Nebraska sand hills, produces more cattle than any other county, anywhere! That, and the big cattle feeding operations in the corn sections of the state are two reasons why Nebraska is becoming known as the "T-Bone" state!

You can be proud, too, that your state rates high for other accomplishments. Nebraska is known for the fact that its tavern owners strive to conduct their places for the greatest public good. Nebraska taverns are known for their clean, wholesome atmosphere.

This can be largely attributed to the broad-gauge continuing educational program for retailers conducted by the brewing industry.

City Employes Are Granted $10 Pay Raise

Money Will Be Borrowed By Council

540 Benefit By Blanket Increase

A $10 monthly blanket pay raise to all city employes was unanimously approved at a special meeting of the city council Thursday morning.

In approving two resolutions the council first voted to declare an emergency and give the city the authority to borrow the needed money from a bank. The second resolution granted the raise.

It has been estimated that the increase will cost the city approximately $18,000. About 540 employes will be affected by the raise. There are 383 of those persons paid directly from tax funds.

The raise is effective April 26, 1951, and will run to Sept. 1, 1951. It covers all city employes, including directors, whose salaries are fixed by the council with the exception of seasonal golf department employes and employes of the line department of the city light department.

The line department employes will have their salaries adjusted probably within a week. The raise will not cover any hospital, library, or municipal court employes.

Those city employes working on an hourly basis will receive a 5 cents an hour boost.

Cost of Living Factor

The raise was granted according to the resolution because "the cost of living has increased to such an extent that city employes' wages have become inadequate."

The last such raise was granted on Sept. 1, 1950. It was a general $10 monthly increase with salary adjustments made for those in key positions as high as $50 a month in several cases. Directors at that time were given a $500 annual increase.

Ferguson Hall NU's First Major Building Under Special Mill Levy

The University of Nebraska's new Ferguson hall—to be formally dedicated Saturday morning—is the first major building completed at N.U. with funds from the special state institutions building mill levy.

Speakers at the ceremony will be Gov. Val Peterson; J. L. Welsh, Omaha, president of the university's board of regents; Dean Roy M. Green of the college of engineering and architecture; O. J. Ferguson, retired dean of the engineering and architecture college for whom the building is named; and Chancellor R. G. Gustavson.

Ferguson hall was built and equipped at a cost of $700,000. It is described by Ferris W. Norris, head of the electrical engineering department, as one of the finest buildings of its kind in the nation.

Laboratories

The first floor houses a large power laboratory, classrooms and offices; the second floor classrooms and offices; and the third floor offices and general communication labs. The third-floor labs include facilities for the study of the general transmission of electric power, television, electronics, radio and air-ground signal transmission. The latter lab is operated jointly with the campus air force R.O.T.C.

Special guests at the dedication ceremony will be members of the state legislature, members of the Nebraska Engineering society who will be on the campus for their 20th annual roundup, and alumni and former students who have been invited to return for this occasion.

Tours will be conducted through the building Friday, and Saturday afternoon.

Hot Water Heater Blamed For Blaze

The annual field day will be held Saturday, May 12. At least three field parties will make trips starting at 6 a.m. in the surrounding areas and will meet at noon to compile a list of birds seen during the trips.

Adrian C. Fox of Lincoln is president of the state organization of 175 members.

Record Crowd Hears Tenor Mario Lanza

OMAHA. (AP).—Mario Lanza, handsome young tenor, faced the largest audience he has yet encountered when he walked on stage at Ak-Sar-Ben coliseum here.

Nearly 10,000 persons were in the throng. Ak-Sar-Ben officials said the turnout was a record for a paid performance at the coliseum.

Lanza called it a "wonderful reception."

Girls and women surrounded his car as he tried to make a quiet getaway after the concert. Police had to clear a path for the auto.

Reactivated Airport Use Meeting Topic

Col. Atkinson Will Confer Here Saturday

The use of Lincoln's municipal airport under reactivation conditions will be discussed at a meeting at the city hall Saturday morning.

Attending the meeting requested by Col. G. G. Atkinson as a representative of the airport use panel in Washington will be members of the city housing authority, the chamber of commerce, national guard, navy, commercial air lines, civilian pilots, city officals and the civil aeronautics authority.

According to Mayor Victor E. Anderson the meeting will be a preliminary study by Col. Atkinson on the possible joint use of the airport by the military and civilian interest.

City Attorney John Jacobson has stated that the use panel has ruled in two similar cases that the reactivated bases shall be used jointly by both groups.

Why Not Back To Yalta?

The dispatches indicated that Senator Bob Taft ("Mr. Republican") and some of his party cohorts are very anxious to broaden the scope of the hearings to be conducted by the joint senate armed services and foreign affairs committees.

They would like to march all the way back to Yalta, where the late FDR, Stalin, and Churchill met to consider the final phases of the war against Germany, to plan for the defeat of Japan, and finally in what now can be branded as the most magnificent historical irony, to turn their thoughts towards "the peace" which was to follow.

We know of no reason in the world why the American people should not have a full refresher course on what happened at Yalta, unless some of its details still possess value of either a military or political character, in which event those portions of the discussions at Yalta would remain as top secrets. The conference opened February 4, and lasted seven days, and produced a statement participated in by the three leaders. In other words, Yalta reaches back more than six years—years of war, years of hasty demobilization of huge armies, years during which desperate hundreds of millions undertook to reorganize their living on the ashes of war's destruction.

No doubt Yalta could reveal mistakes. The chances are that some of them were the mistakes of the late FDR. He was poorly prepared for Yalta, both physically and in the actual preparations which are necessary for conferences of the type that took place.

Even more it should be said that FDR was playing a desperate game at Yalta, gambling with the understandable desire to bring a global conflict to as quick an end as humanly possible, and with the minimum loss of life. He was still blinded by the delusion that he could handle Stalin in paving the way for a long reign of peace; and that it not only was possible but vital that the United States and Russia produce a formula which would enable them to live in this tight little world, side by side, in peace. He was mistaken. Before death came to Mr. Roosevelt, he himself discovered that he had credited Stalin and the men around Stalin with an honesty they do not possess—that he had given to Russian policy an honorable purpose which it lacked and still lacks. That was FDR's mistake. Irretrievable, some say; unforgivable, the harshest of FDR's critics charge.

Unless Yalta is to be dug up for campaign purposes in 1952, it is difficult to foresee what value could come from reviewing its mistakes six years later. Mr. Roosevelt is dead. His mistakes at Yalta may live after him, but they cannot be undone.

And curiously, what then were hailed as triumphs reached by allies engaged in a great war—now go down in the records in the light of subsequent developments as ghastly blunders, ever so costly to the free peoples of the world.

It is impossible to recreate either the Europe or the Asia that existed at the time of Yalta. It was impossible then to view the problems of that hour with the problems of this hour. We must start with the assumption that then Russia and America were comrades-in-arms, not divided, not at each other's throats, not at cross-purposes. Nazi Germany still was to experience the kill—Japan was still a military power dominating the Far East. The American people may want Yalta bared. If they do, there is no good reason why its failures should be hidden from public view. It will add nothing to the present situation, or take nothing from it.

We live today, with today's world and today's burdens. About the only value that Yalta or anything else can have for us is to enrich us with the strength of the experience which the past has provided.

The talk about Yalta is transparent. Those who talk most about Yalta prefer it infinitely to facing up with the one question actually up for decision. Do we want to go to war with China? Do we want an all-out major conflict on the Chinese mainland, using Chiang Kai-shek's troops, bombing Chinese bases, railroads, highways, and industrial points which have a war potential? That is the world in which we live today—not Yalta. A war declaration will do it, if those who do most of the talking are ready to back up their words with a vote for a war resolution. Bob Taft and his followers would take to the woods if called upon to actually vote either for or against the one question that concerns the people of this country most.

From Out Of The Schools

Among engagements in the immediate days ahead is a commencement address, a farm gathering in the upper Platte valley, two radio recordings, and a sketch dealing with Nebraska and the city of Lincoln for publication in a trade magazine early next winter.

All evidence suggests there will be other things to occupy the editor's attention besides hanging Maybaskets. The violets are late this season. Tulips are backward—the lilac just beginning to bud. But trust to the ingenuity of youngsters to take care of that problem of filling the gaily-decorated baskets which they plan to leave on the doorsteps of the homes of their little playmates. Youth has a way of getting things done. It has yet to add "can't" to its vocabulary, if ever it does, and we trust that it does not.

Shortly the commencement festivities of a thousand high schools will be occupying the thoughts of thousands of sturdy young men and bright-cheeked young women, happy in the thought of a completed task in a part of their education, and looking ahead to college days or to jobs. On this page is a symposium gathered from undergraduates at the University of Nebraska, fine young men and women, thoughtful and studious, which we think in a very large measure projects the thinking of the younger generation today.

This uncertain, tormented world, which looks ahead anxiously and is unable to figure out what next to expect, has not been too kind to this younger generation. They are youngsters of purpose, and yet it is difficult to map out a program of purpose, when there is so much of uncertainty. There is only one sane course to be followed, and that is to take each day in stride, whatever it has to offer with a smile, stout-heartedly, while clinging to all the fine dreams which are a part of the heritage of youth.

Recodification Task

One of the more ambitious tasks which the Nebraska unicameral tackled is the recodification bill, L. B. 486, now moving ahead towards passage. It would appear on the face of it that the legislature has taken care of a long-neglected job, and has done it well.

Among other things which recodification promises to accomplish is to eliminate confusion such as resulted when an appointive attorney general, elected at the general election to a full term, nevertheless surrendered the office for a day to a wide-awake, alert democrat who ran for a short term—very short—the hours between the actual canvass of the vote and the swearing in of the elected officials. That makes sense and brings the procedure into line with popular will.

Still another amendment relating to the pre-primary convention law removes the restriction against state officials serving as delegates to political conventions. That restriction, of course, was to prevent any administration from perpetuating itself through delegate-control of a convention but it also worked a hardship on men or women who happened to hold a state post as a member of a committee, agency, or commission, largely a matter of unselfish public service, and non-paid.

There are also two changes relating to the initiative and the referendum. One requires election commissioners to furnish lists of registered voters to the secretary of state for the purpose of checking the validity of referendum and initiative petitions. The other changes from 18 to 21 the age requirement for circulators of petitions. Both seem to be a step towards strengthening and improving the original initiative and referendum laws.

Chiang On His Own

Rumors persist in Hong Kong, according to a news dispatch from that oriental metropolis, that there soon will be a Chinese nationalist raid on the mainland of China. The Truman-MacArthur affair has not stifled the plan of Chiang Kai-shek to undertake an invasion, the report points out, and has even fanned the flames of desire for an attack in force.

There appear to be three strong reasons for Chiang's wish to return to the coast of China, which he left a few months ago in complete defeat, his troops routed, and most of their equipment lost. The first reason for an aggressive adventure is propaganda. The second is finance, and the third is morale. The nationalists point out that they cannot afford to maintain their large establishment—listed at 600,000 troops by General MacArthur in his speech to the joint meeting of congress—for an indefinite period of time. And unless something is done soon, the Hong Kong dispatch says, morale of the Chinese soldiers on Formosa, already disintegrating, will totally crumble.

What's In A Name

A story from Pittsburgh reports that the first women taxicab drivers in the city's history are wondering what they will be called on their new jobs. They noted that women streetcar operators were known as "trolley dollies." From The Star's wire desk has come the suggestion that the gals might take their choice of "cabbie haggies" or "taxi Wacs."

You Can't Win

Louis J. Obserste, an employe in the Little Rock, Arkansas, bureau of internal revenue, made an economy suggestion and won a $375 award. But when he got his check, he ruefully noted that it was $67.84 short. That's how much was withheld for income tax, and Obserste has learned one fact of life.

PRESIDENT NEEDS HELP TO IMPROVE PUBLIC RELATIONS

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Shrewd Speaker Sam Rayburn, one of the president's best assets on Capitol Hill, was talking to friends about the sad state of Mr. Truman's prestige as a result of the MacArthur controversy and asked for ideas on how to improve the president's public relations. Rayburn felt that the president was right in ousting a military commander who refused to obey orders, but deplored some aspects of the way the matter was handled.

One friend suggested that what the president needed was some smart public-relations experts to advise him.

"If he got some advice from Earl Newsom in New York, who handles public relations for Standard Oil and Henry Ford," suggested the friend, "and from Tim McInerny, who knows all the public-relations angles in Washington, they could probably change the present trend."

"Yes," replied Rayburn, "but they wouldn't be able to get anywhere near the White House. The boys around the president would never let them in."

What the speaker referred to is the extreme jealousy of most White House advisers. They are so fearful that some outside adviser will weaken their cherished positions close to the throne, that they let few people of any stature have the president's ear—except for routine official callers.

Meanwhile, the president's sense of timing has proved deplorably bad. When Truman fired Louey Johnson as secretary of defense, he did so exactly three days before the Inchon landing in Korea. If he had waited until after the Inchon landing, he knew Johnson would have received part of the credit for this victory and his dismissal would have been unpopular. So Truman fired him first.

In the case of MacArthur, if the president had relieved him immediately after the tragic December defeat in Korea, public opinion would have been with Truman. Instead, he waited for the wrong moment.

—VEEP AND MACARTHUR—

Every movie theater in the country is now showing General MacArthur's dramatic speech to the joint session of congress. As the movie cameras recorded MacArthur's attack on the administration, their lenses also recorded the impassive face of Vice President Alben Barkley.

Barkley, sitting immediately behind MacArthur, gave no outward indication of his thoughts. However, Barkley's friends report that while MacArthur was striking at the foundation of the administration's foreign policy, the Veep was reflecting on his own personal ties with the general.

Barkley recalled that his eldest daughter, Laura, is married to Douglas MacArthur III, the general's nephew. And as he listened to the general's vitriolic attack, he thought of the many tickets he had given MacArthur's relatives so they could come and witness the attack.

He could not help but wonder also what his son-in-law, Douglas MacArthur III, thought about his uncle's "save Asia first" ideas. For young MacArthur is state department adviser to the man who is trying to save Europe first—Gen. Dwight Eisenhower.

—TAXING FACES—

Chief congressional champion of the "working girl" is Rep. John Dingell of Michigan. One of his pet themes is unfair taxes on women's articles, and the other day he delivered a brisk lecture on the excise-tax problems of the fair sex during a closed-door meeting of the house ways and means committee.

"One of the worst tax inequities I can think of is the 20 per cent excise on ladies' handbags," challenged the Detroit democrat. "Why should a handbag be considered a luxury when it serves the same purpose, to a woman, as a man's pockets?"

Later, Dingell said:

"You don't tax paint used on barns, houses and fireplugs. Then why must we have an excise on the paint and rouge our women, the most beautiful in the world, use on their faces? I'd a lot sooner see the government give tax relief to a pretty face than a cow barn."

"Let's hear from the treasury," broke in Rep. Jere Cooper of Tennessee, trying to placate the fired-up Dingell.

"No, let's hear from me," shot back the congressman. "I don't need any coaching from the treasury department on this question. I've been shouting for years against discriminatory excises and I intend to keep on shouting."

Washington Calling

TWO GREAT ERRORS STAND OUT IN DEALING WITH THE RUSSIANS

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON. — Confronted with the dynamics of communism since 1917, the west has reacted with a series of errors that add up to something close to disaster. Those errors seem to me to have grown primarily out of repeated underestimation of the force of communism as an ideology, as a godless religion, as a system capturing the hopes and imagination of millions.

Marquis Childs

In the long tragedy of errors, two stand out with glaring conspicuousness. And what is more, they suggested that a third blunder arising from this same underestimation will be made if some powerful people have their way.

The first error lay in the effort of the British with a little help from the other allies, to put down the Bolshevik revolution after the end of World war I. Intelligence reports indicated widespread disaffection in Russia directed at the little band of conspirators who were beginning to apply the techniques of a new tyranny.

These reports, which were substantially correct, led the British to believe that by backing certain Cossack generals and sending in an expeditionary force, the revolution could be put down and the threat to the stability of all Europe brought to an end. But the means used for this objective were pathetically small. The expedition sent to Archangel was a mere handful of men and the Cossack generals were so discredited that they rallied little or no support behind them.

If the western allies had been prepared to send in a force of several hundred thousand trained and experienced men, the response of the Russian people might have been different and the shaky Bolshevik regime overthrown. In the war-weary west, a force of that size and cost was out of the question. So the net result of the feeble and futile intervention was to leave a heritage of resentment and suspicion among the Bolsheviks and disillusion among those who had hoped to see the regime toppled over.

The second fundamental error was also, in my opinion, due to underestimating the force of communism as an ideology fanatically bent on world conquest. The mistakes of Yalta and Potsdam at the end of World war II derived from Roosevelt's belief that Soviet Russia would be willing to live side by side with the western powers in a peaceful world. It was in the hope of gaining Soviet confidence and cooperation that concessions were offered the Russians both in Europe and in Asia.

Roosevelt sincerely believed that he could win them around and only at the very end of his life was he at least partly brought to a sense of the realities by certain insulting messages from Stalin. The only small gain in this was that the rest of the world could not help but be convinced that America had done everything possible to get peaceful cooperation with the Soviet Union and that therefore the blame must be on the Russian side.

In his speech to congress, General MacArthur included a review of developments in China in the past 50 years in which, incidentally, he made no mention at all of Sun Yat-sen who was the principal leader of the revolution against the feudal regime of the Manchus. Then he said:

"There is little of the ideological concept either one way or another in the Chinese makeup. The standard of living is so low and the capital accumulation has been so thoroughly dissipated by war that the masses are desperate and eager to follow any leadership which seems to promise the alleviation of woeful stringencies."

This once again, it seems to me, underestimates the fanatical faith of the communists in China who are seeking to weld an iron grip on the Chinese masses. Consequently, it encourages a serious under-estimation of the task to be accomplished if communism is to be overthrown in China.

The long-term national interests of this country and of Asia may well coincide with such a goal regardless of its cost. But it cannot be one on the cheap and easy. It would call for military preparation far in advance of anything now planned and would in turn mean a resolution and determination on the part of the American people which would persuade us to accept continuing sacrifices and restrictions.

To try to do it on the cheap and easy could be expected to produce the results that came out of the feeble, half-hearted efforts to suppress the Bolshevik revolution in 1919 and '20. America's friends in China, and they are undoubtedly numbered in the millions, would be made disillusioned and resentful. The communist regime in Peiping would be strengthened.

It is revealing that many of the republicans who have flocked around MacArthur's banner are those who have sought to curtail the draft, to put a ceiling on military manpower, to impede plans for the defense of Europe and to cut military appropriations. They are seizing on what they think is a cheap and easy way to bring the war to an end with a sudden and miraculous victory.

General MacArthur has held out no such promise. Since he has advocated strength everywhere, it must be deeply disturbing that his words should give aid and comfort to men who seem to want to scuttle America's position in the world.

'We Are The People' . . . A Generation Of Many Doubts

By BEVERLY LARSEN

"We are young people struggling with indecision."

That was the way Beth Randel of McCook, a 21-year-old senior at the University of Nebraska, summed up the future faced by all college students who, like all of us, are caught in a maelstrom of conflict and bewilderment.

"I've always thought my future would start when I finished college," she said. "Now I wonder what I'll think when I have a diploma in my hand. I was never going to worry about the future, but now I wonder if it pays to plan."

Her words reflect the doubts experienced by a generation which was born during a depression, which grew up in a world at war, and which now has a future of international and personal insecurity.

Other students, all of them holding top positions on the Daily Nebraskan, student newspaper, have the same doubts and fears.

Jerry Warren, 20, a junior from St. Edward and editor of the Daily Nebraskan, expressed futility in the plans he would like to make.

"The only planning I can do is to get my degree and wait for the army," he explained. "It's difficult to look forward to anything other than that."

A sophomore and managing editor of the school newspaper, Joan Krueger, 18-year-old sophomore from Norfolk, cannot picture her future much differently than she sees it now. The only insecurity she feels is not knowing whether she "will be wearing a uniform instead of working," as she now plans. University life, she believes, will remain about the same except for an "undertone of insecurity."

"Maybe the situation will get worse for a while," she said, "but I don't believe we'll come to the breaking point. I have that much faith in humanity."

Another managing editor, Tom Rische, 21, a junior from Lincoln, feels "trapped" by circumstances. But he retains a philosophical hopefulness that somehow everything may yet turn out all right.

"There's no way of guessing what is going to happen," he said. "The way I see it is that the trouble will either blow over or blow up."

CLARIFICATION

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: It has come to my attention that the Parent-Teacher associations have been accused of supplying money for the campaign of one of the candidates for the board of education. This statement is absolutely false and I want everyone to know that the Parent-Teacher associations have never furnished money or support for any candidates for the board of education.

We are giving our wholehearted support for the six-million-dollar school bond issue and have helped furnish money for printed matter on the needs of school buildings in Lincoln. P.T.A. people of Lincoln are working very actively, informing people about the bond issue and urging everyone to vote for this most important school bond issue.

MRS. FRED SEHNERT
President of the Lincoln Council of Parent-Teacher Associations

SCHOOL BOARD CAMPAIGN

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of the Lincoln Star: During the past few weeks, over-enthusiastic followers of incumbent members of the school board running for re-election have been handing out the story that certain of their opponents were socialistic or tinged with even more leftist leanings. These bits of gossip have been too numerous to seem merely accidental.

Such statements are, or course, palpably false in regard to all the candidates. Mr. Venner is a conservative business man; Mrs. Laase is a stable mother of five children and a leader in church and social activities from an old and respected Nebraska family; Homer Wright is an executive of one of the city's largest manufacturing firms; and Mrs. Hill is a business and social leader.

A school board is charged with the sacred duty of directing the teaching of the truth. There is no place on it or in a campaign for such an office for such anctics.

F. K. BEUTEL.

THE DESIRE TO SERVE

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of the Lincoln Star: In deference to the privilege of free voting in our country, I have made a rather definite point of analyzing the candidates for public offices at various elections. Perhaps I am naive in expecting candidates to allow themselves to be nominated because of a sincere desire to serve the public.

In this light, I have listed the school board candidates (along with the other officals to be elected next Tuesday), have made inquiries into their business and professional backgrounds. It is reasonable for every voter to do this since these candidates are asking us a favor—our vote to put them in a highly responsible office. They should be able to offer, in return, emotional stability, business ability, and a sense of responsibility to their task. Votes should be earned by the above, not solicited by the group making the most phone calls, passing out the most cards, or organizing a small political machine.

I have not had the privilege of meeting personally any of the four board candidates, therefore I have viewed their campaigns from an analytical standpoint rather than a partisan one. I note the incumbents have devoted much time to explaining the important bond issue which they favor, in preference to frantic last-minute campaigning. That in itself is commendable. Each seems to be possessed of business acumen in his own field, and to have had a cooperative and harmonious tenure on the board.

I am sure the two new individuals running for the board are personally very fine, but it seems an excessive amount of time and energy is being spent on their campaigns. Isn't this unusual in Lincoln so far as a school board election is concerned? If this is true, what group or faction is supplying it? I am sure these two persons would not knowingly serve as pawns for any individual or minority group whose intent is to be less than constructive.

Lincoln has a very fine public school system. It has been served by two excellent superintendents just prior to beginning an extension program under a new superintendent who comes well recommended to carry on the business at hand.

This school system, by the way, is a multi-million-dollar business. It deserves your earnest consideration. Just remember you wouldn't hire an employe for your own business without checking his references, his past experience, and his value to you as a future key man. Can you do less for the children of the city?

A "WAYSIDE OBSERVER"

York, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I am enjoying your special articles and your editorials in The Star. Not that I am in complete agreement with the author always, but I can and do appreciate his breadth of thought, his facility of expression, and his devotion to his calling.

Only recently did I begin enjoying The Star. I was addicted exclusively to morning papers. When The Star joined the sunrise class, I became better acquainted with it—and I like its quality. Your report of your Washington visit and your impressions of the MacArthur visitation and your today's impressions of General Dawes—all good writing.

Maybe, too, I have more time for discriminating reading since I joined the company of wayside observers.

MULTIPLE SOLUTION

Bladen, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I have been reading about Lincoln citizens and their trouble with dogs running through their gardens. The best way to avoid this trouble, it seems to me, would be to fence in the yards and gardens. The dogs would be kept in their own yards, and also the little children, with the fence serving as a protection for them against cars. A yard fence would serve more than one purpose.

Warning Issued On Nebraska's Poor Roads

Manufacturers Hit Price Regulations

OMAHA. (AP). New price regulations which would cause rollbacks to pre-Korea levels are under fire from Omaha manufacturers.

"We're in business for profit," commented a furniture maker, and by the looks of this order we may no longer be in business."

"Downright stupid" was the comment of one food processor. He said his overall costs have gone up "at least 10 percent" since the Korean war started. However, he pointed out, the cost increases cannot be included in determining the price of his products under the new order.

Another manufacturer said the result might be cutting the cheaper, smaller profit lines and concentration on higher priced bigger profit goods. He said this will only add more inflation.

Governor To Tour State During June

Rebuilding Of Black-Tops Is Said Necessary

Gov. Val Peterson Thursday issued a grim warning on the condition of some of Nebraska's roads.

"Paper thin" black-top roads in northeast Nebraska, built in the 1930's, are "popping out of the ground like corn in a popper," the governor stated.

He said this was generally true of the northern part of Nebraska, adding that he wasn't sure what conditions were elsewhere.

These roads have to be "rebuilt and rebuilt properly," he said, "but it can't be done without money."

Peterson said he based his statements on a recent auto trip to Yankton, S. D.

Highway 77 from Mead to Fremont and Highway 275 from Norfolk to O'Neill were among examples he cited of "popping" roads.

The problem will recur every year until something is done, he said.

But, he added, the "real music" will come—under present conditions—when huge sections of concrete may crumble with no money to replace them.

Gov. Peterson added that he hopes to make a tour of Nebraska roads sometime in June.

The governor said he would leave in the hands of the legislature the means by which more road money should be raised.

Peterson said he was for a highway department commission if it's going to help unify the people on a road program.

The commission plan is now embodied in a bill before the legislature. Farm groups have opposed giving more money to the legislature until the highway department becomes more efficient and have supported the commission plan.

The governor said, however, that he thinks one change should be made in the bill—a separate irrigation department should be set up.

Peterson also:

1. Indicated he would not request introduction of Senator Arthur Carmody's proposal to give the governor full power to hire and fire state liquor commissioners.

"I've already indicated that as far as I'm concerned it's a good proposal. The legislature is fully familiar with the situation. Let them handle it."

2. Said he would be satisfied with his anti-gambling bill as long as it passes with the revocation of state-issued licenses provision remaining intact.

He added:

"I didn't put the bill in there for my exercise. I put it in with the idea it would pass in an effective form."

Stock Growers, Brand Committee Hold Meet

Criticizers Of Politics Under Attack

Oklahoma Pastor Addresses Group

NORTH PLATTE, Neb.—(AP)—An Oklahoma minister who recently took a fling at politics said Thursday night he is sick and tired of Americans who, when they see basic American principles being junked, merely sit back and say: "My, isn't politics dirty?"

Politics will stay dirty until men who live and think on a high level decide to do something about it, said Rev. William H. Alexander of Oklahoma City. He was the banquet speaker at a joint meeting of the Nebraska Stock Growers association and the Nebraska brand committee.

Pastor Alexander was the republican nominee for the U. S. senate in Oklahoma last year. He lost to Mike Monroney.

In an advance summary of his remarks, Rev. Alexander said he was not talking about partisan politics, adding he doesn't think one party ever did anything that the other party isn't capable of doing at any time.

Earlier Thursday, Howard J. Gramlich, agricultural agent for the Chicago and North Western Railway company, said the cattleman is in a highly competitive market and must learn to economize.

"The housewife of America buys that which appeals to her and the market is subject to lightning-fast changes," he said. He referred to fish, poultry, lamb and pork as competition in the retail food trade.

The housewife "is your boss," he told cattlemen. The industry must produce beef efficiently so that it can be retailed at a price which will "meet the competition of the various other products," Gramlich said.

Miss Vivien Kellems, Stoningston, Conn., manufacturer, and Montana Congressman Wesley A. D'Ewart spoke Thursday afternoon.

A concert by the Curtis school of agriculture band opened the morning session. Mayor Kirk Mendenhall made a welcome address and Dr. C. . Watson of Mitchell gave the response.

The first morning speaker, Dr. E. P. Anderson of Lincoln, state veterinarian, discussed the possibility of bacterial attack on animal production in the event of future wars.

Early detection is the first defense against bacterial attack, for which the responsibility lies with "all veterinarians, livestock organizations and producers," he said.

Irwin Adamson of Cody, past president of the association and a member of the brand committee for 10 years, referred to the 1941 brand law which "fortified the work of the committee."

He stated that 1,988,712 head of cattle were inspected for brand in the past fiscal year. Adamson pointed out that the main objective of the law is to guard against theft.

STATE'S PRETTIEST WAITRESS, Darlene Behrens . . . her feet hurt. (Star Staff Photo.)

'Prettiest Waitress' Weary After Title Winning Event

Her feet hurt and her blue eyes are glassy with fatigue, but Darlene Behrens is still the prettiest waitress in Nebraska.

That's what Nebraska restaurant men voted the 23-year-old Lincoln brunette at their convention in Omaha Wednesday.

The convention, which started Sunday, really wore her out. Since it began she had only 10 hours sleep. "We did a lot of campaigning," she remarked.

And Thursday, with the prize already won, she was still talking to a lot of people—customers who came in to the Continental cafe, 1511 O street, to congratulate her.

"I like to meet people," she sighed, "and I sure have been meeting them for the last few days."

Miss Behrens is the first Lincoln girl voted "Nebraska's prettiest waitress." She won in a field of nine.

Loves Her Work

She "loves" waitress work because it consists of dealing with people, each one different. Her future plans? Waitress work.

And they don't "deal them off the arm" at the place she works. They use trays.

Again speaking of the convention, she said "it was terrible. But it was worth it."

Officers of the restaurant association elected are: Benny Davis, Omaha, president; Jerry Uhlberg, Wayne, first vice president; Louis Frieze, Columbus, second vice president; C. E. Heaney, Omaha, executive vice president; and E. H. Fitzgerald, Omaha, secretary.

Named directors were Boyd Schlachtler, Hastings; David Hayden, Omaha; Robert Spencer, Lincoln; Tony Savorilla, North Platte, and L. J. Likens, Fairbury.

Parity Price Freeze Plan Opposed

Seven Point Program Is Asked To Fight Inflation

Truman Urges Move To Stop Prices, Build Defense Plants And Hold Rents

WASHINGTON—(INS)—President Truman warned Thursday that "the world situation could explode at any time" and asked congress for a seven-point anti-inflation program to assure accomplishment of America's armament goals.

In a 5,000-word message, the president called for a year-to-year freeze on farm parity prices to hold down food costs, a stronger rent control law with restrictions on commercial rents, power to build government defense plants, and subsidies to encourage output of critical materials.

Opposition instantly flared in congress to the proposal to freeze parity prices yearly instead of allowing them to rise monthly, as now.

Bills to carry out the program were introduced in the house and senate. Sen. Maybank (D-S. C.), who offered the senate measure, said he opposed the parity freeze and made it clear he acted "by request."

Parity is a yardstick designed to adjust farm prices to those which the farmer has to pay for cost-of-living and production items. Controls on farm commodities cannot be imposed until the items reach parity.

Sen. Aiken, Vermont, ranking republican on the senate agriculture committee, charged on the floor that the parity freeze proposal coming at the start of the planting season is a sure way of choking off farm production at a time when emphasis is on stepping up output.

Aiken termed the proposal "outlandish." He said: "Those who would make the farmer dependent on a government check for his income are still guiding the administration's farm policy."

Mr. Truman asked immediate enactment of his 10-billion dollar tax increase program and declared that tighter curbs on prices, wages and credit will be necessary. He said personal savings must be increased.

He declared that if food prices cannot be held by the measures proposed, he will ask for "limited food subsidies" to keep rises in farm prices from being reflected in the cost of living.

The president said 26 billion dollars in orders have been placed for planes, tanks, guns and other military equipment and supplies, and that 58 billion more is to be placed by the end of June, 1952. He explained:

"This is a tough production program because we must build our own strength as rapidly as we can. The world situation could explode at any time, and we must make every day count."

President's Program

His anti-inflation program:

1. A two-year extension of the defense production act, with its provisions for price-wage ceilings, restrictions on credit and allocation of materials to defense uses.
2. Power to build and operate government defense plants "where necessary to produce essential materials and equipment."
3. Use of differential subsidies "to obtain essential production from high-cost sources of supply without increasing price ceilings."
4. Controls over credit on housing now in existence and regulation of speculative trading on commodity exchanges.
5. Use throughout the year of the parity price for each farm commodity at the beginning of its marketing season, thus etsablishing an annual freeze on the parity figure.
6. Provision for stronger means to enforce price control regulations, including higher civil penalties for law violations.
7. Effective control on both residential and commercial rents, "wherever needed to stabilize the cost of living and the cost of doing business."

Wilson Calls For Tax Hike

. . . To Check Inflation

NEW YORK —(AP)— Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson Thursday night called for higher taxes to help stop what he termed a "cancerous growth" of inflation "which will prove fatal unless it is quickly cut out."

He said wage and price controls got only at the symptoms of inflation, and that more taxes were needed to get at the roots of "this dread enemy."

"A lready our casualties inflicted by this dread enemy can be numbered in the thousands of tanks, guns, and planes," he said in an address to American newspaper executives.

The defense mobilizer was the speaker at the dinner of the bureau of advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers association at the Waldorf Astoria hotel. The dinner was the final event of Newspaper week here.

While he took a grim view of the U.S. stabilization picture, Wilson foresaw a mounting U.S. production that by the end of 1953 will enable the country to be ready for war, and simultaneously preserve its pre-emergency civilian economy.

And if war doesn't come by then, he said, the increased productive capacity can be used for an even "better economy, for a better standard of living."

Member Omaha Police Force Is Suspended

OMAHA — (AP) — Herman Mangiaruca, 26, whose Omaha police career has been full of commendations, Thursday was suspended from the police force pending a hearing.

Chief Fred Franks said he was investigating accusations that during two "blank" hours Tuesday afternoon the officer smashed down six doors in an apartment house and caused the arm fracture of a man.

Warren Withers, 67, victim of the fracture, is hospitalized. He identified Officer Mangiaruca as the man who burst into his room and struck him with a chair.

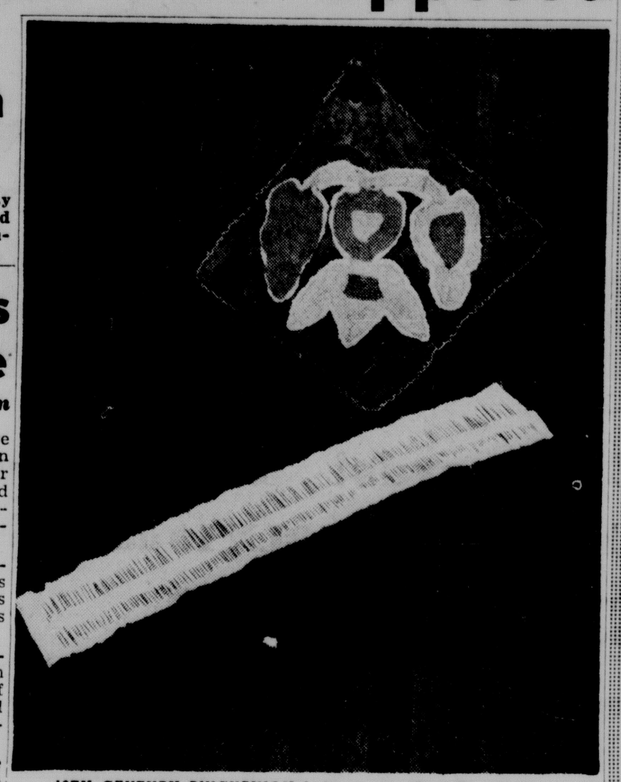

"I just don't remember," said Mangiaruca, veteran of two years of navy duty in the Pacific. "It's a complete blank. I never saw the man before. I don't know why I would be down there."

Final Arguments In Bankers Life Lawsuit Heard

Final arguments in the suit brought against the Bankers Life Insurance company by three policyholders were heard in District Judge John L. Polk's court Thursday.

A decision in the trial should be forthcoming within two weeks. The case was tried last November.

The plaintiffs, Charles Ledwith, Lincoln attorney; James F. Begley, Plattsmouth attorney, and Robert E. Pillers, Clinton, Ia., businessman, seek to have the company's retirement plan declared void.

19TH CENTURY PINCUSHION belonging to Mrs. Fenton Fleming, 2610 Washington, yielded 230 needles, new and old, when it was taken apart. About 100 of the needles are shown in the strip of white cloth. The pincushion came into Mrs. Fleming's family in 1893 when her father bought it from Indians in Oklahoma. It was used by her mother, and then by her. Age of some of the needles, imbedded in the raw shorn wool, could be told by the round, rather than oblong, eyes. (Star Staff Photo.)

Mayor Wants Power Rate Compromise

Mayor Victor E. Anderson, after a closed meeting of the city's power committee Thursday, stated that the city was "entitled to some compromise" in the new power rates asked by the Nebraska Public Power system.

The NPPS served notice on Aug. 5, 1950 of cancellation of its present contract for furnishing the city approximately one-third of its electric power. The contract, however, provides the agreement shall be good until two years from that date.

The new rate asked for is set up on the following basis:

First 25,000 k.w.h., 9 mills per k.w.h.
Next 75,000, 8 mills.
Next 200,000, 6 mills.
Next 900,000, 5 mills.
Over 120,000, 3½ mills.

Lincoln has asked that the city be given a consolidated billing along with the seven other Nebraska municipalities served by NPPS. This would allow the city to purchase more of its power in the cheaper 120,000 k.w.h. class.

City Engineer D. L. Erickson has claimed the new rate is discriminatory in that it gives Consumers Public Power system consolidated billing on 19 billings and thereby puts that company in the cheaper purchasing class.

... Lewis Points Out

Trials already made with the use of light airplanes indicate the soil conservation service may be able to save money and at the same time speed up materially the work of conservation surveys on land preparatory to developing sound soil and moisture conservation plans, R. O. Lewis of Lincoln, chief of the conservation surveys for the northern great plains, told a group of state conservationists in Lincoln Thursday afternoon.

The surveys, Lewis told the state conservationiss and their assistants from Nebraska, Kansas, the Dakotas and Wyoming, are necessary in the determination of land capabilities and treating the land according to its needs. The kind of soil, as well as slopes and the amount of erosion are determined in teh surveys.

Transportation Aid

Lewis said the use of light planes at slow speed is another improvement in the means of transportation while the surveyor maps the features that can be determined by observation. "Transportation has been a problem ever since men began studying the soil," he said.

No method of survey, however, has been able to eliminate the need for digging some holes to examine such things as the depth of the soil and its texture, Lewis pointed out. Trials with light planes to map visable soil features were made three years ago in Kansas, he said, and last year a flight was made in Nebraska for the purpose of examining some inaccessible river bottom land.

The light planes saved having a man floundering through dense growth in an attempt to get the information needed. The needs for conservation surveys from the air, he pointed out, are air photos and a surveyor thoroughly familiar with the area. The costs of high quality surveys during the trials, Lewis said, were less, counting the cost of hiring a plane.

Nye Pleads Guilty To Slaughtering Another's Animal

NORTH PLATTE, Neb.—(AP)—Jack Nye, 27, of Alliance has pleaded guilty before District Judge Perry at Scottsbluff to the slaughtering of a yearling belonging to Jack Herman of Lakeside.

The slaughtering took place in Garden county.

Nye's plea of guilty is the result of continued investigation by chief investigator and assistant chief Inspector E. E. Clark of the Nebraska brand committee, and Sheriff Wendall Hills of Sheridan county, Fred Shelmadine of Box Butte county, Steve Warrick of Scottsbluff county and O. R. Roberts of Garden county.

Nye, who already is serving time in the Nebraska reformatory for acttle theft from Sheridan county, was sentenced to an additional three years in the Nebraska penitentiary.

FATHER OF THE BRIDE -

STAR PHOTO

Judging from his harried expression it is not likely that Lyle Holland will burst into song most any minute—But should he have that inclination we'll wager a guess as to the words—

"That's where my money goes, to dress my baby—"

June-bride daughter, Mary Sue Holland, whose marriage to Donald Bloom will be an event of June 2, looks coaxingly on as Father of the Bride adds, subtracts, multiplies and moans.

STAR PHOTO

Earl Carter, wanting to be very helpful, offered to help daughter Jayne with her packing so there would be no hectic moments between now and tomorrow—her wedding day.

This Father of the Bride managed to get the lid of the traveling case down—but Miss Carter is calling his attention to a few bits of froth on the outside.

"Why bother about a few ruffles," asks Father Carter—"you've got lots of them inside the case." But we'll venture a guess that everything was removed and neatly re-packed. Anyway, Jayne doesn't look at all stern or forbidding.

STAR PHOTO

If C. Myron Noble seems to be a bit smug it's because he feels that June 29, the wedding date of his daughter, Nancy, and Don Etmund, is eons away—However he seems to be taking an avid interest in the contents of the hope chest—especially those items that weren't on the first-of-the-month statements—or maybe just overlooked in the deluge.

STAR PHOTO

Never let it be said that John W. Yeager doesn't believe in preparedness—June 10 will be here quicker than scat and the judge doesn't want to be caught out of step—especially with daughter Barbara on his arm—Here we find Judge Yeager and Barbara rehearsing that processional aisle business while Miss Marilyn Morgan of McCook, who is to be one of Miss Yeager's bridesmaids—gives directions from Emily Post.

From the looks of things the judge is stealing a quickie at the next paragraph—but it doesn't seem to worry him.

As you know, Miss Yeager is to become the bride of Wayne Eisenhart.

'Tight Squeeze' Day

NOW FOR SURE WE know what they mean by a "tight squeeze"—Here we are with a big, chubby morning of news that we're trying to make settle down comfortably in a cubby hole of space—But nothing to do but gather up the overflow and save it for tomorrow—

There IS exciting news coming up but we're saving it for a day of wide open spaces—as we are doing with some other things we have in mind.

140 To Take Tests For Free Tuition

Approximately 140 eighth grade students will take examinations Friday at the courthouse to determine if they're eligible for free high school tuition.

County Superintendent Glenn E. Turner said students from rural districts and approved high school districts will take the tests.

Upon successful completion of the examination, each student will receive free tuition at any high school of his or her choice in the state. The county pays the bill, at the rate of $7.50 per week.

President Warns Red Rulers May Cause War In Korea To Spread

WASHINGTON— (AP) —President Truman warned anew Thursday that "the communist rulers" may cause the war in Korea to spread. If they do, he said, they must face "the awful responsibility for what may follow."

President Truman said the communists also can choose to make a peaceful settlement. The United Nations forces, he said, "will strive to limit the conflict if possible."

Seizing on the words "if possible," a reporter asked whether Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, successor to Gen. Douglas MacArthur as United Nations commander in Korea, has been given authority to bomb red bases in Manchuria if he deems it necessary.

Mum on Manchuria

The president's reply: No comment.

At the news conference President Truman gave Secretary of State Acheson a new vote of confidence. He denied a published report that Paul Hoffman, former Marshall plan administrator, may succeed Acheson. He said he already had a secretary with whom he was very well satisfied.

There was a flurry of questioning about MacArthur, who was fired by the president for publicly advocating stronger measures against the Chinese reds than the administration has been willing to allow.

President Truman said that MacArthur is free to say and do what he pleases; that the president won't pull any strings on him.

No Reply on Dawson

President Truman said the question of whether Donald Dawson, his personnel assistant, should obey a request to testify before a senate investigating committee hasn't been put up to him yet. He added that he'll answer the question when it is. Apparently he meant that Dawson hasn't asked him about it yet.

The request for Dawson's testimony was made Wednesday by the senate banking subcommittee which has named Dawson as a member of a clique with influence over Reconstruction Finance corporation loans. Dawson didn't reply to a previous invitation by the committee to tell his story.

There's word from Moscow that Russia may take part in the next Olympics . . . All we know is they've been practising weight throwing in Europe for some time.

Nothing ever gets through to us about sports in Russia . . . they would hate to have it get out that when two Russian teams meet, one of them has to lose.

Walter Kiernan

And they can't call every contest a draw because Russians, according to their textbooks, always win.

We've got a new sport starting here soon . . . It's called wage stabilization and the president has picked the first 18 men, nine on a side.

We've tried this with smaller boards and although wages didn't get stabilized, everyone seemed to enjoy the excitement.

Just think what fun we could have in government if we added the British false teeth and free specs program to the rest of our policies.

Shucks, MacArthur would be forgotten overnight if our administration could switch the conversation to painless dentistry.

1,500 Costly Blooms Shower Doug's Wife

CHICAGO— (INS) —Fifteen hundred orchids were showered on Mrs. Douglas MacArthur Thursday as she entered Chicago's Stevens hotel.

They were dropped from the hotel's windows—a tribute decided upon when the reception committee was informed the costly orchids could not be pinned adequately on the automobile which Mrs. MacArthur occupied during the parade.

Composer Carpenter, 75, Dies In Chicago

CHICAGO — (INS) — John Alden Carpenter, 75, internationally famous composer whose music has been played by all the world's important symphony orchestras, died Thursday in his home after a long illness.

The composer suffered a minor stroke some months ago in his winter home in Sarasota, Fla., and this was followed by pneumonia. He rallied, however, and doctors permitted him to return to Chicago two weeks ago.

Television Dampens Juke Box Popularity

OMAHA — (AP) — The pinball business isn't what is used to be, and television has put a crimp in the juke box's popularity.

That was the report to the Omaha city council by a delegation of amusement device operators who place the coin-operated devices on a percentage basis.

Lou Singer, manager of the Central Music Distributing company, headed the delegation which asked for a tax reduction on the devices.

New Amendment Would Put End To 'One-Day Term'

Recurrence of the one day unexpired term episodes such as marked the last election is believed corrected by the legislature which Thursday amended language in LB 486, the recodification of election laws.

Also approved was an amendment which removes restrictions against state officials serving as delegates to party political conventions and one requiring election commissioners to furnish the secretary of state registration lists for checking validity of initiative and referendum petitions.

Sen. Karl Vogel, chairman of the government committee, explained that he did not consider raising the age of persons circulating petitions from 18 to 21 years was a substantive change.

He explained that since the law was passed the legal age of women has been raised from 18 to 21 years and the change was elimination of conflicts.

The unexpired term law laxity was called to public attention by Harold P. Caldwell of Omaha who filed for the short term as attorney general, was elected and served one day.

Two Drivers Get $100 Fine For Speeding

Municipal Judge Edward C. Fisher ordered two whopping $100 speeding fines during Thursday afternoon's court session.

One hundred dollars is the maximum under state law that anyone can be fined for speeding. Both defendants were charged with speeds ranging up to 90 miles per hour.

Gordon B. Mays of 3825 South Fifty-first avoided paying his fine by taking the court's "alternative." Judge Fisher ordered his driving privileges suspended for a period of 101 days. During this time he will be expected to write a 1,000 word essay on safe driving, study traffic manuals and pass a test on sane driving.

The second defendant, Gerald Barger of Greenwood, pleaded not guilty because he "thought the fine was a little stiff." Following his conviction he paid the $100.

The judge told both men that society won't be able to solve its traffic safety problems without the help of drivers. He pointed out that there have been 91 traffic deaths in Nebraska this year and that "about half of these accidents have been one-car affairs."

Youths Toss Steel Rod Through Skylight

A boy's instinct to throw rocks through winows seems to be developing into something more violent.

M. C. Walker, district plant manager of Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph Co., told police that Wednesday evening some boys threw a 12 pound piece of reinforcing steel through a skylight at the company's office building.

The vandals evidently crawled from the roof of the new parking building at Thirteenth and M to the telephone company's roof. They dropped the foot-long piece of steel from a height of about three floors, Walker said. It broke the glass and plunged through a wallboard ceiling to the office below. Damage was estimated at $10.

One Killed As Mixer Started By Mistake

TAMPA, Fla — (AP) — A new employe pressed the wrong button Thursday and set the blades of a cement mixer whirling while two men were inside it.

One was killed and the other lost both feet.

Greenberry Canada and Albert Mingo were cleaning the huge stationary mixer at a block plant. James Julian, who had been working there four days, was on the outside operating a cable to remove buckets of dirt scraped from the inside.

Julian pressed the mixer button instead of the cable button and got so excited when he heard the others screaming he took about two minutes to get the right button to stop the machine.

House OK's Big War Bill

... $6,468,000,000

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The house voted an extra $6,468,206,000 for defense Thursday without questioning a single dollar of it.

The emergency military spending bill was passed by voice vote, and with no amendments, just 24 hours after the appropriations committee sent it to the house floor. It now goes to the senate.

Most of the new money is to be spent in the next two months for a buildup in military manpower and a speedup in providing war weapons. If the senate approves the full sum, it will bring the armed forces' spending for the present fiscal year to around $48,500,000,000.

School Bonds

YES OR NO

To Lincoln Voters:

Col. Frank D. Eager

May I again appeal to you to exercise your constitutional right and duty to help keep Lincoln a progressive and inviting city and good place to live. Do not be influenced by the "SCARE" publicity being put out by those who like to spend other peoples money. Our schools are not in danger.

Everyone wants good schools, with good teachers, well paid. I do too. But I want to adhere to the basic principle laid down by the founders of this city and state,—the "PAY AS YOU GO" with no bonds or burdensome debts. That policy has placed the financial credit of Lincoln and the State of Nebraska at the very top in the entire country. My advice is, "stay by it" and "PAY AS YOU GO."

Don't be frightened. Make use of the surplus capacity in some of our beautiful school buildings in the older part of the city. Cut down on expenses and cut out lot of non-educatinal expenditures; such as the proposed 6 or 7 new school auditoriums, and the new proposed $1,000,000 gymnsium; especially considering the present "war" situation. Build each year one or two new buildings in the newer parts of the city, and do as Nebraska did when our Capitol Building was built—"PAS-AS-YOU-GO." NO BONDS.

Building and paying by the mortgage bond method is both expensive and unjust. It leads to extravagance, and burdens the common man with more than his share of the expense. Remember that the big "O" street merchants and landlords do not pay the bonds or the interest on them. They increase the mark-up—their gross margin of profit—on the merchandise they sell and the ultimate consumer, who cannot pass the debt on, pays the bonds in the increased price he pays for his clothing, his groceries, or the rent he pays for his apatment, or in taxes on his little home.

Don't be deceived. In the last analysis it is the poor man, the working man, the basic consumers, and actual producers who pay the bonds, and the interest thereon. This $6,000,000 program is too much of a "Blank Check."

What do these proposed bonds mean to you? $6,000,000 principal, with $1,500,000 added for interest means $75.00 for every man, woman and child in Lincoln. For the working man with a wife and four children it is a debt of $450.00. To be paid in higher costs of living, and an additional tax on his property.

SOME FIGURES

The school district of Lincoln still has about $2,000,000 of old bonds still unpaid, all issued since 1920—on which it is now paying $160,000 a year on principal and $75,000 a year in interest. It will take more than 10 years to complete the payments. The School District has paid $3,600,000 in interest on bonds issued since 1920, and only about the same on principal. Thus it has been costing us twice as much to build by the bond mortgage method as by the PAY-AS-YOU-GO method.

TAX LEVIES:

Tax levies have been increased from 17.0 mills in 1946 to 23.68 mills in 1950, or practically forty (40%) percent. These new levies increased the revenue receipts from $1,800,000 to $3,000,000 a year. As the city grows and new properties are built and old properties are improved the assessed valuation will be higher and the revenue receipts greatly increased. Of all the taxes you pay for State, County, City, and sanitary district, more than one-half (51%) goes for schools.

IN HIS TALK AT THE LINCOLN HIGH SCHOOL, MONDAY NIGHT, OUR SUPERINTENDENT OF LINCOLN SCHOOLS, SPEAKING ON THE $6,000,000 BOND ISSUE AS QUOTED BY THE PRESS SAID, "THIS LACK OF INTEREST HAS ME WORRIED TOO. IT IS A HARD THING TO DETERMINE."—I ASK THE LINCOLN TAXPAYERS, WHO SHOULDN'T WORRY OVER A NEW $6,000,000 DEBT??

For a city in the splendid condition that Lincoln is, with employment high, and as prosperous as it has ever been, it is better in the long run to stand by the method of "PAY-AS-YOU-GO."

REMEMBER GO TO THE POLLS MAY 1, AND VOTE NO. STAY AWAY FROM A NEW $6,000,000.00 DEBT. WE STILL OWE ABOUT $2,000,000 DOLLARS ON OLD SCHOOL BONDS.

Very respectfully submitted,
FRANK D. EAGER.

Unicam Pay Increase To Vote In '52

...Peterson Signs Bill

A bill providing for a vote at the 1952 election on a pay raise for members of the legislature has been signed by Gov. Val Peterson.

The constitution would have to be amended to make the raise possible. Present pay of Nebraska legislators is $872 a year. The proposed figure is $1,250 a year.

The voters last year turned down a proposed amendment which would have allowed the lawmakers to fix their own salary.

Other bills signed by the governor:

LB 119, increasing the pay of workmen's compensation court judges.

LB 267, permitting the leasing of county hospitals to private charitable organizations.

LB 431, providing for condemnation of routes across school lands for pipelines.

LB 493, increasing the maximum pay for boarding home care of children.

LB 494, providing for collection of the cost of assistance for applicants whose relatives are able.

LB 175, providing for appointment of a guardian for a spendthrift assistance recipient.

Lincoln Tops Des Moines Bruins In Double, 10-3, 5-3

Five-Hit Pitching By Carey, Romberger Pace Twin Win

By NORRIS ANDERSON
(Sports Editor, The Star)

HUSTLING all the way, the Lincoln Athletics Thursday night rode five-hit pitching jobs by Dutch Romberger and Bud Carey to a double victory over the Des Moines Bruins, 10-3 and 5-3.

Romberger, aided by a 12-hit assault on part of his cohorts, won the opener.

Carey's stint in the nightcap was eased by a streak of wildness by three Des Moines pitchers.

Lincoln thus moved up to third spot in the Western league standings.

A bundled audience of 493 saw Manager Frank Skaff's young crew play the puddly field like old "mudders" and take full measure of their opportunities.

The A's scored two runs in the second inning of the first game on singles by Spider Wilhelm, John Wisneski, Romberger and Johnny Magliola.

SIX-RUN SPREE

A six-run outburst in the third settled the Bruins. Lincoln accomplished this on doubles by Ed Boehm, Billy Shantz and Wilhelm, a single by Magliola, two walks and an error.

Wayne Tjaden, the 18-year-old Bruins pitcher, was yanked by Pilot Al Todd after that, but the damage was done.

Those single tallies the A's picked up in the fifth and sixth frames were strictly icing.

All of Lincoln's pay powder in the nightcap was concentrated in the fifth inning.

Up until then, the Bruins had road a 3-0 lead.

FIVE WALKS

Before Pitchers George Piktuzis, Horace Pangman and Harry Wise could find the range, the A's had piled up five straight walks, a double by Carey (scoring two) and had five runs across.

Carey bore down in the final three frames, holding the Bruins scoreless.

Rigazo was tossed out from rightfield by Tom Kirk at the plate to end the game.

Billy Shantz, with four hits in eight trips, and Wilhelm with four in seven were the Lincoln plate heroes. Outfielder Eddie Boehm, with two doubles in the opener, registered his first hits of the 1951 season. He had previously gone hitless in 16 straight trips to the plate.

Arnold Portocarrero will be on the mound for the A's tonight as they launch a road trip at Des Moines. They will return to Sherman Field, May 3, against Sioux City.

Tigress Young Appears Again; Krejci Says No

Tigress Mae Young, the rough and tumble citizen of female wrestling, makes a return appearance to the fairgrounds arena Tuesday night.

She will face Ella Waldet, Seattle weight-lifter, in what Promoter Adam Krieger calls "an engagement extraordinary."

In other matches, ex-Husker Jack Pesek meets oldtimer Earl Wampler and another former Nebraska footballer, Mike DiBiase, faces Bob Geigel, onetime Iowa U. gridiron star.

Joe Krejci, the veteran referee, said he would not appear on the bill if Tigress Young was present.

It was Miss Young, who in a fit of disgust, removed Joe's trousers Tuesday night. The old gentleman claims he lost his dignity as well as his pantaloons.

"Tom Novak has told me he is not afraid of Miss Young. He will officiate," pronounced Prof. Krieger.

TIGRESS YOUNG—She'll be at the fairgrounds again Tuesday night.

Ten Huskers, Led By Cooper, Set For Drake Show Saturday

(Compiled From Press Dispatches)

Ten Husker cindermen will represent the University of Nebraska at the Drake Relays Saturday.

Don Cooper, pole vaulter from York, will be the top Cornhusker attraction when he goes against Don Laz of Illinois.

It was Laz who set a new collegiate vault record of 15-1¾ a few hours after Cooper had set the record at 15-⅛ in the Kansas Relays.

Saturday will mark the third meeting between the two vaulters. Cooper beat Laz at the Drake Relays last season and then lost at the Purdue Relays this year.

Leonard Kehl, Scottsbluff, who has beaten Cooper in several meets, will also vault for the Huskers.

Lee Alexander, Plainview, and Don Bedker, North Platte, are the only Husker entries on the track. Alexander will compete in the 100-yard dash and Bedker in the high hurdles.

WEATHER GOOD

Other Nebraska entries are: Lowell Nielson, Spalding, in the shot and discus; Paul Grimm, Blair, in the shot; Glenn Beerline, Alliance, and Irv Thode, Loup City, in the broad jump; Warren Monson, Clay Center, in the javelin; Dick Meissner, Omaha, in the high jump.

The weather at the relays—in contrast to last year when a snowstorm, mud, rain and cold plagued the athletes—is expected to be good.

But Thursday the weatherman squared himself with the sponsors with a forecast of a mild week end. There's a possibility of showers Friday night.

The pole vault heads a program that has attracted entries from 25 universities, 49 colleges and 62 high schools.

There are six university and college finals Friday. Michigan and Washington State are mentioned as possible record beaters in the university four mile relay and Loyola (Chicago) is expected to post a new mark in the college distance medley.

Oklahoma, Ohio State, Illinois, Oklahoma A. & M. and Notre Dame are rated the leading contenders in the university sprint medley.

Defending champion Bill McGuire of Missouri; Warren Druetzler of Michigan State, and Herb Semper of Kansas are the favorites in the individual two-mile. They'll be shooting at the mark of 9:10 by Greg Rice of Notre Dame in 1939.

Wichita, NU In Two-Game Series

Wichita baseballers will invade Lincoln Friday and Saturday for a two game stint with the Nebraska Cornhuskers on the NU diamond.

Friday's game will begin at 3:00 p.m. The Saturday finale will start at 2:00 p.m.

Diamond master Toney Sharpe will probably go along with Del Kopf on Friday and wind up with sophomore chucker Dale Bunsen for Saturday's tilt. Bunsen won the 12-8 affair with Wichita in the role of reliefer. He gave up but one hit in four frames.

Overhauling THE NEWS

BY WALLY DeBROWN

Despite all the stories on the A-bomb, we're happy to hear that several large scientific groups are also working full time on developing atomic knowledge to advance medicine, science and industry. From all indications the release of atomic energy can be the greatest force for good and evil in the world. That covers a lot of ground. And it's going to take a lot of clear thinking to make sure the atoms go to work in overalls instead of in battle dress. We don't want the decision based on a flip of a coin. Somebody's apt to run in a two-headed coin on the proceedings.

A Sacramento couple read an advertisement that described just the kind of home they wanted. They called the agent, and found it was their own home. Proves there's no place like it. We'll agree. But most folks are thinking about vacation time right now. If you're planning to drive this year . . . remember our swell safety-first summer checkup. We'll be sure that your car's right for driving. Bulk District Track Meets Under Way This Week End

Three New Marks Viewed By State's Class A Competitors

By DON STRASHEIM
(Star Sports Staff Member.)

THIS IS the week-end in which Nebraska's high school track stars must produce the best in them. Over 300 teams and 2,700 athletes will compete in qualifying meets for the 1951 Nebraska High School State Track championships.

This is the only chance for the cindermen to get into the State meet at Lincoln. Athletes hindered by injuries, slow starts, slippery tracks and Mother Nature will be spectators at the State carnival, even though they may be the best track men in the state.

The first qualifying trials got under way at Bayard Thursday afternoon with the Panhandle Class B teams in action. Friday the Bayard track will play host to the Western Nebraska Class C meet.

Defending Class A champion Scottsbluff gets its district trial at North Platte Friday. The Bearcats are favored to keep their district crown.

Mitchell, the Class B defending champion, had their trials at Bayard Thursday. It looks as if they may be the State Class B champs again this year.

SAME CREW

They have the same crew that won the crown last spring. The Tigers have been bothered by poor weather this spring and may not be up to par at the State championships.

Arapahoe's Class C title holders have their own meet Friday. Hildreth, co-owner of the Class D title last year, will participate in the Arapahoe meet. The Greyhounds are not considered a serious threat.

There will be a new Class D champion after the May 11-12 festivities. Taylor, the co-holder of last year's crown with Hildreth has also entered the Class C trials.

At least three district Class A marks are under fire this week. The pole vault, broad jump, and mile relay records have been bettered several times this spring.

Laddie Hanscom, Lincoln high, and Bill Hawkins of Beatrice are leading the jumpers. Hawkins has leaped 21-7½ and Hanscom 21-4½ in recent meets.

LINKS WATCHED

Lincoln high has run the mile relay in 3:41.1, a tenth of a second off the district record. With fair weather the Links are expected to set a new record.

Omaha Tech may be the surprise in the track events. They have two very speedy sprinters that are capable of a 10 flat century. They both run in the 880-yard relay. Another new record, possibly.

Leonard Bechenbach of Alliance has beaten the vault record set by Len Kehl. The Alliance star has gone 12-1⅜. Kehl's mark is 12 feet even, set in 1947.

Big Doyle Fyfe has thrown the discus 143' 4". This betters Jim Tangdall's Class B mark of 142-2.

Ex-Husker Ralph Damkroger has Hoppy McCue again this spring in defense of their Class C title. Hoppy has already bettered two Class C records.

He has bettered his mark in the low hurdles, time this spring being 21.4. He has broad jumped 22-6¾, bettering the record by one inch.

George Crosby of Sutherland has bettered the Class C vault record by two inches in his 11-7 jump. Charles Cookson of Arapahoe has equalled the 11-2 mark.

NEW 'D' MARKS

Class D may produce the most new records in the regional attractions. Bob Miller of Wilsonville has run the century in 10 seconds, three-tenths under the district standard.

Paul Nickel of Axtell has been clocked at 22.5 in the furlong, a full second better than the present mark.

Walter Shafto of Harrisburg and Jerry Grassmick of Mitchell (Sunflower) have both leaped over the Class D high jump record of 5-11. Shafto has gone 6-1 and Grassmick 6 feet even.

The mile relay time of 3:54 has been beaten by Madrid and Odessa. The Madrid cindermen have posted 3:48 and Odessa 3:50 in recent meets.

The Firing Line

by Norris Anderson, SPORTS EDITOR, THE STAR

Try Writing It Yourself

THERE comes a time in the threadbare life of every scribbler of sports when grinding out a column becomes a grind.

At this writing, we're right between the seasons and that annual April visitor named Jupiter J. Pluvious.

There have been so many rainouts, we have been unable to appraise the Lincoln A's in no other fashion than: Good pitching, good defense and less than medium at the plate.

Partington

Spring football is over and the Drake Relays, Big Seven outdoor and state prep meet are forthcoming.

So we're going to let you, the reader, write this today.

Lessee, what'll it be?

You could start out with the prediction (over Coach Tony Sharpe's rigid protests) that his University of Nebraska baseballers have more than a casual shot at the Big Seven championship.

Tony, a hustler himself, has these young Huskers hustling and running like their very life depended on that next pilfered base. Any squad that hustles like this one can be dangerous. Any squad that is averaging seven stolen bases per game must be reckoned with.

You might reel off a yarn on the way Lincoln citizenry have taken so warmly to Business Manager Carl Pusey and Boss Frank Skaff of the Lincoln A's.

Following in the shoes of Jimmy DeShong and Howard Gordon, both excellent hands at the banquet mike, might discourage less hardy chappies. Pusey and Skaff, with less verbage, do just as well before the banquet gentry.

You are going to admire Skaff's field strategy more as the season progresses. He'll have those kids digging in for dear life, running like fury and hustling all the way. Hustle is Skaff's middle name, you know.

YOU might write a column predicting that Don "Moose" Cooper, the sky-riding Husker vaulter, will eventually crowd 16 feet. He says that's his next goal and, knowing Moose, darned if we don't think he can do it!

There could be a story on the great opportunities for incoming freshman gridders at the University of Nebraska this fall. Under present World war III rules, these kids are immediately eligible for varsity competition.

Imagine being a high school senior in May and a wearer of the Scarlet in September! It can be done if you have the stuff.

A bit of probing might be in order on those two Northeast stars, Paul Fredstrom and Jim Cedardahl. Find out about all those outstate universities interested in these two fine athletes.

INVESTIGATE the rumors that the Cleveland Indians are seeking Bobby Shantz, former ace lefty of the Lincoln A's and now of the Philadelphia Athletics. If he gets any hitting support at all, we're betting Wee Bobby wins 15 games this summer. Bobby's six-hitter against the Yankees the other day went for naught due to non-support on the part of his weaksticking mates.

You might do a bit on Bob Berkshire, former Star sports staffer, Big Seven high hurdle champ and still holder of the state prep mark for the high sticks at :14.6. Bob's now a Marine lieutenant and star of the Camp LeJeune, N. C., track team. He'll soon be bound for Korea.

Give good luck wishes to Joe Partington, former Cornhusker football great and more recently assistant Lincoln high gridmaster. Joe is now with the FBI in Washington.

Okay, Mr. Reader, we've given you some topics. You write it.

Traffic Death Toll In Nebraska Soars To 91

Omaha, Humphrey Men Fatally Hurt

Nebraska's 1951 traffic fatality toll stood at 91 Thursday, as compared to 63 at this time last year.

The latest victims:

Michael Schomers, 60, Omaha.

Leonard Loeske, 19, Humphrey.

An Associated Press dispatch disclosed that Schomers died in a hospital in Omaha Thursday of injuries received in a traffic accident last week-end. It boosted the number of deaths from Omaha traffic accidents last week-end to five, making it one of the worst traffic weekends ever in Omaha.

Schomers' cab was involved in a crash-fire in South Omaha that took the life of Ben Platmore, 26, Ralston, Neb.

Platmore was pinned in the burning wreckage but passersby freed Schomers and a cab passenger. Schomers is survived by his wife, a son, a brother and two sisters.

The Humphrey youth was killed shortly before midnight Wednesday night in an auto mishap eight miles north of Columbus on Highway 81.

State Patrolman L. E. Sackett, who investigated, said John Eisenmenger, 18, of Humphrey, driver of the car, and Melvin Schrant, 19, also of Humphrey, a passenger, escaped injury.

Sackett said a car driven by Joe Jasper of Platte Center, Neb., "was either moving slowly or stopped on the highway" and that Eisenmenger attempted to avoid striking the Jasper vehicle.

The car containing the Humphrey men hit a fender on the Jasper car and crashed into a guard railing near the Loup river canal, Sackett said. Loeske was asleep in the car at the time, the Associated Press dispatch said.

Fire losses were up $90,560 from February 1951 and March had 14 more fires than did February.

Grocer Backs Pelley Claim

Campaign Statement Denied By Senning

L. C. Price, a Bethany grocer, charged Thursday in a notarized statement that John P. Senning, chairman of the school board, has said Mrs. Irma Laase and Homer Wright were running for the school board to reinstate Dr. James Pelley, associate superintendent of schools.

His affidavit read: "On the afternoon of Monday, April 23, Dr. John P. Senning visited me . . . requesting permission to display campaign material in behalf of the candidacy of R. C Venner and Mrs. Ruth Hill for the board of education.

"At that time he informed me that Mr. Wright and Mrs. Laase were undesirable candidates since if elected to the board, it was their intention to reinstate Dr. Pelley in the Lincoln school system and 'we don't want that to happen.'"

Senning Denies

When asked to comment on Price's statement, Dr. Senning agreed that he had asked Price if he could display campaign material in his store for the incumbents, R. C. Venner and Mrs. Ruth Hill.

"I'll make no bones about campaigning for Venner and Mrs. Hill," he said. "They are good, honest, hard - working members of the school board, and I would hate to lose them."

However, Dr. Senning denied saying he thought Wright and Mrs. Laase would try to reinstate Dr. Pelley if they were elected.

Heard Rumor.

"I did not offer a personal opinion on this," he said. "There are rumors going around to that effect, though, and I may have mentioned I had heard this as a rumor."

Price said he decided to issue his statement after reading in the newspapers of an exchange between Dr. Senning and Dr. Pelley at Tuesday's school board meeting.

At that meeting, Dr. Pelley read into the record that he had heard Dr. Senning had said Mrs. Laase and Wright were running to reinstate him in the Lincoln school system. Dr. Senning denied this at the meeting.

Dr. Pelley emphasized that he has accepted a new position with Miami university at Oxford, Ohio, and that he will conclude his work with the Lincoln system early in June.

Three Clean-Up Misses Lead Annual Parade

With mop, pail and broom in hand, Emogine Moer as "Miss Fix-Up," Kathleen Nicholson as "Miss Clean-Up" and Virginia Kenyon as "Miss Paint-Up" were the stars of the annual clean-up campaign parade in downtown Lincoln Thursday afternoon.

The trio, wearing slacks, bright blouses and with their hair in bandanas, were symbolic of clean-up week, being sponsored by the women's division of the chamber of commerce.

They added spirit to the plea coming from a loudspeaker mounted on a truck in the parade asking: "Won't you paint-up, clean-up and fix-up to help our city of Lincoln to be a more beautiful place in whic hto live?"

Taking part in the parade also were representatives of the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, various civic organizations and city departments.

Music was provided over a loudspeaker and by Jess Williams at the calliope.

Sponsors of the special week emphasize for Friday the special care and attention of garbage disposal, whether the method be the trash barrel or the modern incinerator.

Solons Get No Meals From This Lobbyist

The legislature's special liquor-lobby investigating committee was told Thursday afternoon by a lobbyist that he spends no money for liquors or for meals for senators.

Testifying under oath was C. H. Bressler, Auburn railroad brotherhood lobbyist.

Bressler said he has been a lobbyist since 1935. He gave the committee an itemized list of his expense accounts.

He said he was interested in legislation pertaining to labor or of "public interest."

The committee, apparently near the end of its meetings, is scheduled to meet again Friday to decide on writing its final report for submission to the legislature.

Omaha Pair Held In Bank Robbery

OMAHA —(AP) — Two Omaha men, sought for questioning in connection with the burglary of a Silver Creek, Neb., bank, were surrendered by their bondsman here Thursday.

They were identified by Detective Inspector Harry Green as Ellis N. Phillips, 30 and Ralph Jenkins, 35. Both had been out on bonds on previous charges.

Phillips was surrendered in Municipal court by bondsman L. S. (Bob) Cornett. Jenkins was simultaneously surrendered at the District court by Cornett's assistant, George Vanous.

Merrick county authorities filed a burglary warrant against Phillips after a car registered to him was found near the Silver Creek Farmers State bank. No charge had been filed against Jenkins, however .

Merrick county officers said two persons fled early Wednesday when they were surprised by authorities while working on the bank safe. They escaped in a hail of gunshots.

Taft Thinks Joint Chiefs Are Stooges

GOP Attacks Integrity Of Gen. Omar Bradley

WASHINGTON—(AP) — Sen. Robert Taft (R-Ohio) charged today that the joint chiefs of staff are "absolutely under control of the administration."

Taft spoke as the debate over Far Eastern policy and the firing of Gen. Dougles MacArthur roared on.

He interrupted a speech by Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.), who had said he was willing to follow the recommendations of the joint chiefs on military policy.

Bradley Stooge

Taft said a speech by Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs, in Chicago last week was a foreign policy speech "written, in effect, by the state department."

In his address, Bradley backed President Truman and said, in effect, that MacArthur's policies would lead to World war III.

In taking issue with Taft, Fulbright said any idea that the joint chiefs are "political stooges" for the president "is a very dangerous doctrine to spread across the United States."

Fulbright said he is sure Bradley would not express views to which he did not subscribe. He added Bradley and the state department may be in agreement, and declared there is nothing wrong in that.

Earlier, Sen. Kenneth Wherry (R-Neb.), proposed making a full-scale probe of administration foreign policy actions dating back to world war II. He offered a resolution.

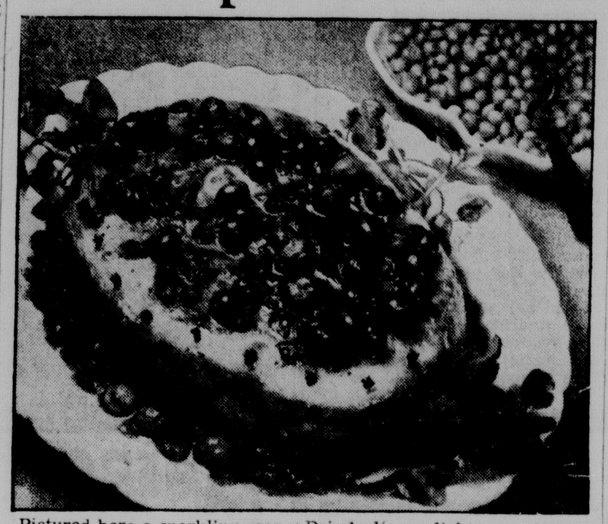

Trucker Acquitted Of Unwritten Law Killing

PALATKA, Fla.—(AP)—J. P. McRae, Jacksonville trucking firm head, was acquitted Thursday of slaying his wife when he found her in bed with another man last November.

He still faces a charge of killing Jacksonville Safety Commissioner Richard D. Sutton, 39, Mrs. McRae's companion in the isolated hunting cottage where the two were killed.

He testified that after he found his wife and Sutton locked in a passionate embrace in the little bedroom of the cabin he remembered nothing else.

The Dependable Ham

Pictured here a sparkling cranberry sauce adds zest to the usual baked ham service. The chunky ham slice is covered with the fruit sauce before baking and then cooked slowly for a delicious mingling of mellow ham and fruit flavors.

For oven baking, select a quality ham slice cut 1½ to 2 inches in thickness. Score the fat in several places around the edge and stud the meat with cloves. Place the ham slice in a baking dish and cover with a mixture of canned or cooked whole cranberry sauce. Drizzle ½ cup light corn sirup on top for a shiny glaze and bake in a slow oven (325°F.) 2 hours or about 25 to 30 minutes per pound.

This is just one approach to fruited ham service. If you like, before baking, cover the ham slice with a festive cherry sauce slice with a festive cherry sauce, or substitute ½ cup pineapple or orange juice as the cooking liquid.

Accompany the fruit-glazed ham slice with fluffy baked potatoes, buttered green peas and crisp lettuce wedges. Hot rolls and a favorite dessert complete the meal.

Court Reverses Order Of State Rail Commission

The state Supreme court Thursday reversed a state railway commission order revoking an old certificate of Earl A. Canada, Bertrand, to operate a petroleum transport and granting him a new certificate.

The court said that the order was "unreasonable and arbitrary." The commission, the court said, "did not find that the . . . existing carriers were rendering unsatisfactory or inadequate service . . ."

The action was brought by the Transit, Inc., and others.

The court also upheld a Valley county District court decision denying a divorce sought by Stanley A. Kuta from his wife, Alice.

Kuta alleged that his wife had "abandoned and deserted him for a period of more than two years . . ."

"There is just his word that she refused to live with him as his wife," the court said, and "his evidence stands without corroborative evidence or circumstance."

"Under the statutes of this state and the decisions of this court a divorce may not be decreed on the declarations of a party alone."

Dakota Salesman Says Kidnapping Story Was False

OMAHA—(AP)—A South Dakota brush salesman who claimed to have been kidnapped and held prisoner two days now admits that the story is false, James L. Dalton, head of the Omaha office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation said Thursday.

Dalton said the Dakotan offered no reason for having made up the story and has been released to go home to Freman, S. D.

Dalton identified the man as Leonard Knostanz, about 32, married and the father of five children.

Automatic Lease Renewal Ruled Unconstitutional

Legislative Act On School Lands Violates State's Duty As Trustee

The state Supreme court Thursday declared unconstitutional acts of the 1947 and 1949 legislatures which provide for the automatic renewal of school land leases.

The court said that the plan set up by the legislature for automatic renewal of a lease where a farmer was found to be taking proper care of the land is "inconsistent with the duties imposed upon a trustee."

The lands are administered by the state board of educational lands and funds, composed of the governor and four other elective state officers.

In 1949, the court pointed out, 1,160 leases were renewed to the former lessees undr the automatic renewal feature.

"It is etimated," the court said, "that if these leases had been put up at public auction they would have produced approximately from $1,250,000 to $1,500,000 in excess of the rentals provided for in the leases."

The court further declared:

"In setting up an administrative plan which abandons public bidding in favor of new leases to existing bidders based on arbitrary valuations shown to be substantially less than fair market values, the legislature has violated the duty of the state as trustee."

Ruling in Ebke Case

The supreme court handed down its ruling in a case appealed from Lancaster county district court by Fred Ebke of Chappell who sought the lease to land in Deuel county, held by Ramey C. Whitney of Lincoln.

The District court dismissed Ebke's suit, and he appealed.

Ebke had offered a cash bonus of $2,500 in excess of the present rentals, in his attempt to get the lease.

Both Ebke and Whitney were qualified applicants, the Supreme court found.

The sole reason given by the board of educational lands and funds for rejecting Ebke's application was the legislative provision for automatic renewal of an existing lease if the current operator were found qualified.

The rental value of state school land is fixed at six percent annually of the appraised value of the land.

Under present law leases may run for 12 years. The former rule was 25 years, and some families have held leases to the second and third generations.

Benefit Schools

The state school lands are lands granted to the state by the federal government to be held in trust for benefit of the public schools. Revenue from the trust is distributed yearly to the state's public schools under a formula set up by law.

State Sen. Art Carmody, Trenton, predicted the decision "might work a hardship on people that have buildings on school land and have made their home there."

"That was the reason the legislature four years ago decided to go along on automatic renewal. But open bidding is a principle followed in letting all contracts. You cannot object to that."

Sees Hardship

"I'm sorry to hear it," said Sen. William Hern of Chadron.

"I believe it will work a hardship on people who have taken as good care of the land as if it was their own, and put their homes on it. I know of no case where the renter has abused the land. This probably will make it harder to get good tenants who will take care of the land.

Sen. Earl Lee of Fremont declared "this will definitely stop trafficking in school land leases, to the advantage of the state."

"They (tenants) won't put any more buildings on school land, will they?" commended Sen. Ray Babcock of Sidney.

About 200 school leases are due to expire this year, all on Dec. 31, Henry H. Bartling, secretary of the board of educational lands and funds said.

The state now has 1,636,000 acres of land under lease.

Burned Area Not To Be Re-seeded

HYANNIS, Neb. —(AP)— The land scorched by a devastating prairie fire earlier this month apparently will not be reseeded at this time.

Between 25 and 30 farmers gathered at the courthouse here Wednesday to discuss the possibility of re-seeding the 45 by 15 mile area hit by fire with "love grass."

Because of the dry weather this year, the possibility of re-seeding land where "blow outs" have occurred also was discussed. Many ranchers reported bare spots as a result of dry weather.

Generally, the ranchers said the proposal was "too expensive," and none signed up for the re-seeding program.

Although the government would have furnished the seed under the plan, it was estimated that the cost would be 40 cents per acre to re-seed by plane.

One rancher said the "type of grass proposed is not the kind I would care to sow on my land." Others agreed.

Stocks Revive; Gains Up To $3

NEW YORK—(AP)—The stock market stepped ahead smartly Thursday with prices advancing from fractions to around $3 a share.

It shook itself free of its recent tendencies to wander listlessly between small gains and minor losses and it never faltered a moment as prices advanced steadily throughout the session.

Oil stocks led the parade but before the session ended issues from all categories were climbing on the bandwagon.

Most gains were fractional but there were a substantial number of advances of around $1 and jumps of $2 and $3 were not uncommon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks climbed 80 cents to $95.40 and the industrial average rose $1.30 to $130.20, a new 1951 high.

The volume was 1,790,000 shares, again nothing phenomenal but the best of this week or last.

There were 674 advances and 22 declines among the 1,130 issues traded with 47 stocks reaching new highs and 31 slipping to new 1951 lows.

It was almost closing time when Pres. Truman's economic message became known. The President told Congress inflationary pressures had not reached a peak and he asked for higher taxes and tighter credit controls.

The firm undertone in the market did not fully reflect the inclination of some traders to remain cautious and selective in their transactions.

Grains Dip, Rally, Decline

CHICAGO—(AP)—A smattering of gains and losses was run up in grains Thursday in a session cut short in observance of Gen. MacArthur day in Chicago.

The market dipped at the start, staged one brief rally, then sank into a renewed decline. Major cereals ended mostly with small losses, but rye and soybeans rang up advances.

Wheat finished unchanged to ⅝ lower, corn ¼ lower to ½ higher, oats unchanged to ⅜ lower, rye (old style) ½-1¼ higher, soybeans unchanged to 1¾ higher and lard 2 to 20 cents a hundred pounds lower.

This was the second session in a row in which rye has displayed relative firmness. Brokers said buying came largely from a commission house which has a large speculative following. It apparently was based on the belief that rye condition has faded along with wheat.

The bread cereal continued to meet hedging. Dealers said farmers in some sections of Texas could redeem wheat from the government loan and sell it on the open market at a profit or around 10 cents a bushel.

The cash market was featured by the arrival here of 105,000 bushels of low-grade wheat from Canada. This will not appear in visible supply statistics, as it is not fit for human consumption. This was the first day any has been reported as arriving here.

The agriculture department reported stocks of wheat in all positions totaled 709,000,000 bushels on April 1 and of corn 1,880,000,000 bushels, both the third largest on record. It was noted however, that corn stocks were disappearing fast under heavy farm feeding to livestock.

Meat Shortages Hit Some Cities

'Part-Way' Ceilings Are Given Blame

... Plenty Of Poultry

(By The Associated Press)

Meat shortages are turning up here and there across the country. Packers say they're only mild so far in some places, but the worst since World war II in others.

Mostly the shortages are blamed to "part way" price controls which have disrupted normal meat distribution.

An Associated Press survey of large dealers in 15 cities showed:

Lamb scarce almost everywhere—partly a seasonal condition before spring lambs reach market in volume.

Beef and veal supplies below normal to very tight in New York, Los Angeles, New Orleans, Charlotte, N. C., Chicago, Richmond, Boston, New Haven, Conn., and Baltimore. (The Dominican Republic information office in New York announced plans to fly 450,000 pounds of beef into the New York market in the next month because of the shortage.)

Pork And Poultry Normal

Adequate supplies (except lamb) in Detroit, Atlanta, San Francisco, St. Louis, Kansas City and Dallas.

Pork and poultry apparently are in normal supply all over.

Most of the packers questioned blamed the shortages on the fact that livestock prices were allowed to go on up after the general price freeze put ceilings on meat.

They said small processors with higher ceilings were thus able to buy animals away from the big packers. This has taken meat supplies out of normal channels in many areas, forcing retailers to seek out meat from other than customary sources—and usually at higher prices. That's how black markets develop, industry spokesmen pointed out.

Some slaughterers and packers caught in this squeeze have been forced to reduce or suspend operations. Many are buying only enough meat to keep plants running—often at a loss. Others have sent workers on early vacations.

The situation has curtailed the low-priced meat available to many competitive stores which entered the price-freeze with low retail ceilings.

That's why budget-minded housewives in wide areas complain that they can find well-stocked meat counters only in the high-priced specialty shops.

Kids With Matches Start Bedroom Fire

Children playing with matches was probably the cause of a fire that did considerable damage to a basement bedroom of the C. Brackman residence at 6001 Huntington Thursday.

Firemen who answered the alarm about 10:30 a.m. said that there would also be smoke damage to several of the upstairs rooms.

The blaze began in the bedroom walls and extended to the room's ceiling. No one was injured.

ATTENTION
Suburban
Home Builders
Rees Wilkinson has brought great benefits to the people of Havelock, University Place, College View, Bethany and Belmont. He and he alone has fought the present system whereby the City charges the Home Owners. Home Builders and Lincoln Churches who pay in full and on the dot when due 6% interest on paving, water and sewer improvements. The City is paying approximately 1%. This idea of charging a prompt paying Home Owner six times the interest cost on special home improvements that are vitally necessary to make a home modern is an unforgivable system of robbery. City Charters have been amended and this type of robbery has been abandoned by forward looking cities. It is high time that the City of Lincoln amend its charter and stop this type of municipal usury and start giving all home owners the municipal credit and low interest rates that they have established for the City by fortifying city values with their homes and business places. It is unreasonable to charge a prompt paying taxpayer a larger amount than his special improvements cost. Interest is a part of the cost. Penalize the non-payer but never the prompt paying taxpayer. The impact of this unfair system hits Havelock, University Place, College View, Bethany and Belmont more than it does the more highly improved areas. It also retards progress in home building in those portions of the city where unimproved streets remain.

If we are to get the suburbs out of the mud we must do it by methods that are fair. Charging Home Builders and others in these districts six times the cost of their own improvements even when they pay in full and on time, is, to say the least, very unfair. We can not and must not take such advantage of the people in suburban areas in their urge to get modern improvements for homes in their neighborhoods.

When Rees Wilkinson is re-elected, he will continue to fight to bring about a correction of such unfair practices at the Council Table and if the Council will not go along he will carry the fight to the people and show them how they can correct the matter themselves by their votes. The leaders in the suburbs know that Rees Wilkinson will not only help them get out of the mud, he will see to it that they are not unfairly taken advantage of by being forced to pay, even when paid on time, an interest rate that is nearly six times the cost to the City. Rees Wilkinson will demand for the suburbs that which is fair and can be depended upon to sit in with them and counsel with them in regard to their problems. The records prove that Rees Wilkinson is the only man in Lincoln who has demanded time and time again that the suburbs be given a fair break in this matter. Rees Wilkinson is opposed to no one, wants to be fair to all and will fight for those who are not getting a fair deal.
